UNIVERSITY OF CALCUTTA.

NOTICE

THE interpretation which has been given to section 11, chapter XXVI, read with section 22, chapter XLI of the Regulations of the University as applied to Law students is published for general information

1. For the Preliminary Examination in Law, time runs against a student, for the purposes of the section, from the end of the first year during which the study for that examination is completed.

2. For the Intermediate Examination in Law, time runs against a student, for the purposes of the section, from the end of the year in which the study for the Final Examination is completed.

3 For the Final Examination in Law, time runs against a student, for the purposes of the section, from the end of the year during which the study for that examination is completed.

4. A comparison of section 22 and the proviso to section 24, chapter XLI shows that the expression "two examinations" in section 11, chapter XXVI is not equivalent to "two years".

SENATE HOUSE, the 24th July 1914.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.NOTICE

APPLICATIONS for the Guruprasanna Ghosh Scholarship to be awarded in the current year are to reach the undersigned on or before the 1st August, 1914.

The following are the rules for the award of the scholarship —

1. Not less than three scholarships, each to be called "The Guruprasanna Ghosh Scholarship" shall be maintained out of the income of the endowment. Each scholarship shall be tenable for three years, and one appointment shall be made annually. A scholarship, if tenable in Japan, will be of the annual value of Rs. 1,000; if tenable in Europe or America, of the value of Rs. 2,000.

2. Candidates for the scholarships must, under the terms of the will of the founder, be "pure natives of Bengal" and "preference shall always be given to Hindus."

3. Applications for the scholarships shall be submitted to the Registrar not later than the 1st of August every year. If an applicant has not already passed the Intermediate Examination in Science of this University, or the final examination of a recognised school of art or technical or agricultural college, he must produce with his application proof that he has attained a knowledge of English and Mathematics up to the standard of the Matriculation Examination and of Physics and Chemistry up to the standard of the Intermediate Examination in Science.

Any person who intends to be a candidate for these scholarships may be examined, upon payment of a fee of Rs. 2 for each subject, in English and Compulsory Mathematics in the papers set at the Matriculation Examination and in Physics and Chemistry in the papers set at the Intermediate Examination in Science; and if he attains the minimum standard laid down in the regulations in all or any of the subjects in which he is examined, he shall be entitled to receive a certificate accordingly.

4. Candidates for the scholarships must have completed 18 years on the 1st March in the year in which they apply.

5. The application of every candidate must set forth precisely the institution in Europe, America, or Japan in which, if elected to the scholarship, he intends to study, as also the particular branch of agriculture or the arts, science, and industries of Europe, America, or the East, in which he desires to specialize

6. Candidates for the scholarships shall submit to the Registrar, along with their applications,—

(a) Certificates of their good conduct, from persons of respectability and position with whom they may be acquainted.

(b) Certificates of their physical capacity to undergo the course of life and study which they will have to follow in the country to which they intend to proceed, signed or countersigned by a medical man holding a degree or diploma of a recognised British or Indian University or licensing body

Candidates must also state whether they have the consent of their families to proceed to Europe, America or Japan.

7. The applications shall, in the first instance, be considered by a committee of the Syndicate consisting of the Vice-Chancellor and three other members, upon whose report the Syndicate shall, not later than the 1st September in any year, award the scholarship to that one among the candidates who is best qualified to promote the object of the founder.

8. The Syndicate may contribute towards the expenses of the passage of the selected scholar such amount as the state of the funds may permit. The Syndicate may also, whenever practicable, contribute towards the return passage of any scholar who has specially distinguished himself in his studies.

9. Every scholar shall, within four weeks of his arrival at the selected place of study, forward a report to the Registrar, countersigned by the proper authorities, showing (a) the course of study he proposes to follow, (b) the arrangement made for his residence, supervision and control. Any departure from the conditions of study and residence thus reported shall be duly intimated by the scholar for the approval of the Syndicate.

10. Every scholar shall, at the end of each term at the institution, where he prosecutes his studies, forward to the Registrar a certificate from the proper authorities, showing that his residence, conduct and progress in study have been satisfactory during the term. The continuance of the scholarship shall depend upon the regular production of such certificate.

11. Every scholar will be liable to forfeit his scholarship, who, not being disabled by illness or prevented by any other cause which the Syndicate may deem sufficient, fails to complete his studies for three years (in accordance with the terms and conditions set out in his application). If a scholarship be forfeited, the scholar will be further liable to refund the amount, if any, contributed for his passage.

12. Subject to due compliance with the above conditions, the allowance will be forwarded quarterly in advance, by the Registrar, free of all charges, to the chief controlling authority of the institution where the scholar prosecutes his studies for payment to him.

13. The Senate may, at any time, upon the recommendation of the Syndicate, alter these rules consistently with the terms of the will of the founder, but not so as to prejudice the holder of any scholarship already awarded.

Paper No. 2—Letter, dated the 29th June, 1914, from the Honorary Secretary, Calcutta Temperance Federation.

Bill to amend the Bengal Excise Act, 1909, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to submit this our Report with the Bill, as amended by us, annexed thereto. In reprinting the Bill, all changes made by us have been underlined.

2. Territorial application of Bengal Act V of 1909.—The Bill, as drawn, extends Bengal Act V of 1909, as amended by this Act, to Eastern Bengal, i.e., to the territory mentioned in Part I of Schedule A to the Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam Laws Act, 1912 (VII of 1912). In that Schedule, however, the Chittagong Hill-tracts, to which it is not intended that the amended Act should apply, are specifically included. It is therefore necessary to exclude those tracts from the operation of clause 2; and, as the use of the word "Bengal" in the Act is now ambiguous (having regard to the territorial redistribution which took place in April, 1912), we think it necessary to include in the Act a definition of that term. This we have provided for by the insertion of an additional sub-clause in clause 5 of the Bill; and in order to give logical effect to the change thus made, we have transferred the extending clause (3) from its present place and inserted it immediately after clause 2. These alterations, it is believed, will insure that no subsequent confusion will arise either as to the territorial application of the Act or in the excise relations between this Presidency and the neighbouring province of Bihar and Orissa.

3. Clause 19.—It was proposed in the Bill, as introduced, to insert in the Act a new section 45A laying down a presumption as to the commission of offences under section 48 where possession of a certain quantity of any denatured spirit was proved. Since the drafting of that section, however, a case has been decided by the High Court (U. N. Biswas vs. Emperor, 18 C. W. N. 486,) in which the definition of "denatured" in clause (6) of section 2 of the Act has been adversely criticised; and an amendment of that definition, as also of the existing section 48 of the Act and the proposed new section 48A, is accordingly rendered necessary. We have carefully considered how the requisite changes can most suitably be made, and the alterations which we suggest are threefold. First, we propose to substitute for the existing clause (6) of section 2 new definitions of (i) "denaturant", (ii) "denature" and (iii) "denatured spirit", and we have made these as simple and comprehensive as possible. Next, we have redrafted section 48, recasting it in the widest possible terms with a view to the effective prevention of the improper alteration of denatured spirit for any improper purpose; and we have at the same time enhanced the limit of punishment imposed by this section in order to bring it into line with section 46 as amended by this Bill. Lastly, the proposed new section 48A has been entirely recast and substituted by two sections, in the first of which a special presumption applicable to prosecutions under section 48 is provided, while the second authorises a general presumption applicable to any prosecution under the Act. These changes will, it is hoped, assist the Excise Department in dealing with offences arising out of the improper use of denatured spirit which, at present, give rise to serious difficulty.

4. Clause 24.—After considerable discussion, we have decided not to modify the amendment made in section 65 of the Act by this clause; but, as we are informed that it is probable that the functions now exercised by Deputy Collectors will in future be transferred to officers to be known as “Superintendent of Excise,” we think it desirable to insert the words “or Superintendent of Excise” after the words “Deputy Collector” in line 3 of sub-section (1) of this section, so that there may be specific reference in the Act to this class of officers.

5. Clause 33.—This clause has been transferred and renumbered as 2A for the reason explained in paragraph 2 of this Report.

6. We recommend, that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

NOTE OF DISSENT BY THE HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI.

By clause 24 of the Bill the scope of section 65 has been largely extended and the officers mentioned therein will be empowered to compound offences punishable with fine up to Rs. 200. No sufficient case has been made out for the extension of the power of the officers concerned. Power given to the Department to compound offences against the excise laws has already been regarded with misgivings and section 65 of the Act was the compromise deliberately arrived at when the Bengal Excise Act of 1909 was passed. Explanation 28 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons does not afford sufficient justification for this extension of power. It speaks of "offences of a petty nature that should not always be brought into Court"; but offences entailing fine up to fine of Rs. 200 cannot be always of a petty nature and without strong reasons to support it (which seem to be wanting so far as the published papers are concerned) the proposed extension of power would be objectionable.

Apart from the safeguards of public trials as against Departmental compounding, on which I need not dilate, it is useful and desirable to bring the graver offences into Court, for the publicity which public trials entail is as deterrent as the punishment itself. I would therefore suggest the omission of the clause.

The Calcutta Temperance Federation has pressed this point of view on the attention of the Government. Its views are entitled to consideration, particularly having regard to the moderation with which it has approached the question.

The Federation says—

"If it be regarded as undesirable to reopen for discussion any of the more important principles of Excise administration for which the Federation has stood in past years, and which up to the present have not found any place in Provincial Excise Acts, the Federation does not find in the terms of the amending Bill any important contentious points."

It also says that—

"The Federation can only record its regret that the amended Bill does not show any advance in Government opinion and practice on the necessity of preventing any undue expansion of consumption. It would also desire to see some recognition to the undoubted development in the direction of separating the licensing from the revenue function of Excise administration. While in the present period of transition and experimental administration, one admits the necessity for careful legislation, the policy of Advisory Committees in dealing with the number and sites of facilities for the vend of liquors and drugs might, it is submitted, have some reference in the Act without committing the Government too far. The Federation, apart from these large questions, regards the amended Bill as a useful Excise measure and supports it."

The Bill being merely an amending Bill intended mainly to bring the East Bengal and the West Bengal Acts into line, and not a generally consolidating Bill, the Federation recognise that the larger question referred to by it in the above extracts must necessarily stand over. And there is no reason why in the process of amendment of the character indicated, the Excise Department should be given extended powers without a case being made out for such extension.

Item No. II (2) above, a third sand-pump dredger is stated, in paragraph 131 of the Report of the Port Facilities Enquiry Committee, to be required for dealing with the bars in the lower reaches of the Hooghly. Items 5 to 9 under "IV Wet Docks" are in connection with the scheme of extension of the Port Commissioners' Docks recommended by the above Committee.

REVENUE ACCOUNT.

2. Income.—The receipts for the year 1913-14, according to the preliminary accounts, amounted to Rs. 151½ lakhs—an improvement of 8½ lakhs over the income of the previous year. The income of the current year is estimated at Rs. 1,58,28,715. In arriving at this figure the Commissioners have anticipated that—

- (1) there will be a considerable falling-off in the export traffic in grain, seeds and pulses ;

- (2) in the foreign import trade the rapid advance of the past four years will not be maintained ;
- (3) in the imports of sugar from Java a temporary set-back is possible as the result of abnormal importation in the past season;
- (4) the above variations will proportionately affect the river-dues and the railway and terminal charges.

On the other hand, the Commissioners have taken credit for—

- (1) possible increase in the shipment of jute and a small increase in the shipment of coal ;
- (2) the enhanced charge recently sanctioned by this Government as a result of the recommendation of the Port Facilities Enquiry Committee in paragraph 172 (3) (e) of their report on the shipment of jute including baled jute railed from the press houses to the docks ; and
- (3) one-half year's receipts from the increased terminal payments of two pies per maund which the Commissioners propose to claim from the Railways concerned on the traffic to and from the docks and jetties. The increased charge is recommended by the Port Facilities Enquiry Committee in paragraph 172 (I) of their report and is under discussion by the Commissioners with the Railway authorities.

3. Expenditure.—The expenditure on Revenue Account in the past year amounted to Rs. 156½ lakhs—an increase of Rs 11½ lakhs over that of the previous year. For the current year the expenditure is estimated at Rs. 1,58,00,790, leaving a small surplus of Rs. 27,925. In estimating the expenditure the Commissioners have assumed that—

- (1) the period of repayment of the Government Dock Loan of Rs. 287 lakhs will be extended from 1935 to 1951. The matter is under the consideration of the Government of India. It will, if sanctioned, afford relief to the revenues of the Trust to the extent of Rs. 2,56,088 in each of the years, 1914 and 1915, as compared with the present arrangement ;
- (2) the adoption of a 60-year term for the amortization of the loan of one crore of rupees to be raised by the Commissioners during the current year. The flotation of this loan has recently been sanctioned by the Government of India on the extended term proposed. This will afford a relief of Rs. 79,749 in respect of loan charges during 1914-15, as compared with a 30-year term of repayment in the case of the existing debenture loans. The sanction of the Government of India to the flotation of another loan of a crore of rupees during the year 1915-16 has been applied for and the orders of the Government of India are awaited.

The Commissioners have not taken into account the possible reduction of expenditure of about Rs. 2 lakhs that will follow during the current year by the interest on the capital expended being charged to Capital during construction. The recommendation of the Port Facilities Enquiry Committee in this respect in paragraph 170 of their report is under the consideration of Government.

The total charges for establishment are estimated at Rs. 31,87,520, as against Rs. 30,14,998, the estimate for the previous year. The increase is chiefly due to the increased provision of Rs. 30,000 made for unforeseen charges and to the extra staff employed for specific purposes.

A summary of the estimates of income and expenditure under Revenue Account, as submitted by the Commissioners, is given below :—

4. Until the orders of the Government of India are received on the concessions referred to in paragraph 3, the budget estimates for 1914-15 must be regarded as more or less provisional. The Governor in Council is accordingly pleased, in exercise of the power conferred by section 71 of the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, to accord his provisional sanction to these estimates.

When the orders of the Government of India in regard to the concessions referred to are received, it may be necessary for the Port Commissioners to prepare and submit a supplementary estimate as provided by section 72 of the Act.

RESOLUTION

READ—

Letter No 1937 dated 18th May 1914 from the Vice Chairman Port Commissioners, Calcutta
Letter No 5638 dated 5th June 1914, from the Port Officer, Calcutta
Letter No 5639 dated 5th June 1914, from the Port Officer, Calcutta
Letter No 5652 dated 5th June 1914, from the Port Officer, Calcutta
Letter No 5640 dated 5th June 1914, from the Port Officer, Calcutta
Letter No 6001, dated 16th June 1914, from the Port Officer, Calcutta

In May 1913, the Port Commissioners Calcutta, submitted, for the consideration of Government, the report of the Special Committee, convened by the Commissioners to consider the question of lighting the river Hooghly, with a view to its navigation by night. The recommendations of the Committee were—

- (1) that, in the first instance, only the channels between Mud Point and Saugor should be lighted this being the length of the greatest importance to shipping, leaving the question of extending the scheme to Kulpi at a later date,
- (2) that the channels be buoyed according to the chart submitted, and lighted with dissolved acetylene gas, and
- (3) that the prohibition against navigation by night should be removed as soon as the lights have been installed by the Port Commissioners

2 These recommendations were accepted by Government in August 1913, and in the same letter it was stated that the introduction of the scheme of night navigation would be sanctioned when the river was sufficiently lighted. The Port Officer was asked to report when this was done, and also to submit rules for the regulation of traffic through the lighted channels.

3 In then letter No 1937 of the 18th May 1914, cited in the preamble, the Port Commissioners reported that the necessary lights had been laid, and asked Government to withdraw the restrictions against night navigation in respect of the river below Mud Point. The reports submitted to Government by the Port Officer in his letters, also cited in the preamble, have not, however, satisfied Government that the lighting installed by the Port Commissioners is adequate or quite efficient yet, especially as it was brought to notice by the pilots that, on the 5th June last, one of the new lights was extinguished and another was burning badly. In these circumstances, and as it is obviously necessary that the restriction against night navigation cannot be withdrawn until Government is quite satisfied as to the adequacy and efficiency of the lighting, the Governor in Council directs that these essential points should be thoroughly examined again and reported on by a committee of practical navigators. It has accordingly been decided to appoint a committee composed of—

- | | | | | |
|----|---|-----|-----|-------------------|
| 1 | the Port Officer, Calcutta | ... | ... | President. |
| 2 | the Deputy Conservator of the the Port | ... | ... | } Members |
| 3 | the Senior Branch Pilot | ... | ... | |
| 4 | the Senior Master Pilot | .. | ... | |
| 5. | two commanders of passenger or other steamers to be nominated by the Calcutta Liners' Conference, | | | |

to enquire into and report on the lighting

4. The committee should make at least three trial trips through the lighted channels at night in the Government steamer Guide which will be placed at their disposal for the purpose. The president will arrange for this at once and in communication with the members of the committee will fix the dates for the trial trips. The committee's report should be submitted for the consideration of Government within a month from the date of this resolution.

Order—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be communicated to the Port Officer, Calcutta, for information and guidance, and for communication to the pilots concerned, also to the Vice-Chairman, Port Commissioners, Calcutta, for the information of the Commissioners and for communication to the Deputy Conservator of the Port, also to the Secretary, Calcutta Liners' Conference, for the nomination of two commanders of passenger or other steamers, who should be instructed to report themselves to the Port Officer for the trial trips, and also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette for the information of the public.

By order of the Governor in Council.

FIFTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATIONS AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1913-14.

1 General.—In last year's report some reference was made to the conference between the Java planters and the European quinine manufacturers and bark importers. At that time negotiations were still being carried on with a view to a settlement of the long-outstanding differences between these bodies. We have now to report these differences settled and the quinine trade an established fact. The effect of this agreement may be far-reaching. Already after less than a year's working, the price for bark has risen from the minimum 5 cents imposed to 6.20 Dutch cents per unit and there is every likelihood according to latest advices of a further rise. This has had the effect of nearly doubling the price of quinine within the last three years and has at once made the production of the alkaloid a profitable concern. The agreement would appear to be working smoothly and already there are hints that it will be ratified at the end of the contract period, nor is the world's production any in excess of the growing market's demand. Unless unforeseen circumstances such as the displacement of quinine by other drugs or increased acreages pointing to greatly-increased production ensue, we may take it that quinine will remain at its present high level for some time to come.

Within the department the policy of extension continues, and the ensuing year will mark the period when the factory relies entirely on the home-grown product. That the Bengal plantations can meet the strain there is little reason to doubt.

The present year initiates a new method of keeping plantation and factory statements and accounts.

2 Weather.—Throughout the year climatic conditions have been favourable on both plantations. The rainfalls were 105.50 inches on Mungpoo and 92.62 inches on Munsong, the former reading is 16.5 inches below, the latter 1.09 inch above the respective averages. Heavy showers which greatly favoured reforestation work fell on Mungpoo during the cold weather. At Munsong, where about 80 per cent of the Cinchona is now situated, the season was normal throughout with the exception that very cold weather was experienced during the last two months when young Cinchona officinalis plants at the higher levels suffered slightly from frost.

3 Plantations and crops.—(a) Mungpoo.—The same general remarks as have been made in former reports on the older Cinchona blocks on this plantation need no repetition now. They are not looking any worse than they were, but the sooner they are out and the land reforested the better. In most cases their condition is due to the lack of rotation, an error which will be eliminated in all future cultivation. They may, however, turn out a better investment than has until recently been expected. There is present a fair element of Cinchona succirubra, a plant comparatively rich in other alkaloids than quinine, these other alkaloids are receiving increased attention from the medical profession and the belief is gaining ground that some of them have at least as high a therapeutic value as quinine itself. Until the value of the other alkaloids is clearly demonstrated, it would seem wise to reserve these Cinchona succirubra trees, and orders have been issued to this effect.

The younger blocks on Mungpoo—block XIV of 1911-12 and block XV of 1912-13—show some of the best Cinchona on the estates. The average height of trees on block XIV in November 1913, 20 months after planting out, was 6 feet 5 inches. This height will compare favourably with what planters might expect in Java. The way these blocks have come away has exceeded even the most sanguine expectations and augurs well for what Mungpoo may be expected to bear when Cinchona succeeds forest.

Extensions for the year amount to 85 acres consisting of 60 acres of C. Ledgeriana, 10 acres of C. succirubra and 15 acres of C. Hybrid No II. The last two acreages have been debited against the budget allotment for 1913-14, the first acreage against the Imperial grant for the same period. Mungpoo plantation at present carries 502 acres of all kinds of Cinchona. From a careful survey made this year the total number of trees is reckoned at 467,312, and it is estimated these contain 24,038 lbs. quinine sulphate or sufficient for about one year's consumption. The old method of calculating the number of trees was suspected to be erroneous. That it was so is shown by the fact that this year's harvest of 138,688 lbs. dry bark would represent scarcely $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. per tree uprooted, if the difference between the present estimate and last year's figure is taken as representing the trees out. But in fact quite a large number of the trees uprooted gave from 5-6 lbs. dry bark. The new regulations for keeping accounts are welcomed as having given cause for a thorough survey of all the blocks. There has been an increase in Cinchona area of 17 acres during the year.

On all divisions of Mungpoo plantation there were, on the 31st March 1914, 91 acres containing 102,119 trees C. Hybrid No II, 353 acres containing 320,613 trees C. Ledgeriana, 58 acres containing 44,580 trees C. succirubra, or a total of 502 acres containing 467,312 trees of all species.

For the year fuel and timber extensions carried out with species of Betula, Quercus, Bucklandia, Terminalia, Alnus, Schima Dlabanga, etc., amount to 300 acres. Reafforestation work on Mungpoo promises well. All blocks are forging ahead and the sub-soil is being broken to a condition fit for subsequent Cinchona growth. The method of planting 6' x 6' instead of 8' x 8' has been continued. Thinning will become necessary, but the young trees have a better chance at a time when adverse conditions are most marked.

Three thousand Ipecacuanha cuttings have been planted out in nursery beds. There is little information available to aid us regarding the cultivation and propagation of this plant and failures in method have to be taken along with successes. The heated propagating pit has proved one of the successes. About 95 per cent. of cuttings now strike in from 2 to 3 months against 50 per cent. in 6-12 months from the old method of propagation. But the cultivation is a slow process involving patience and disappointment. That little is generally known regarding it is proved by the numerous requests for cuttings and information regarding culture received from all over India and the Malay Peninsula.

(b) Munsong.—The total Cinchona area on all divisions of Munsong at the end of March 1914 was 1,744 acres containing roughly 1,696,291 trees and representing during the year an increase of 449 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres and a decrease of 17,496 trees on the figures of the recent survey. Some 448 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres have been put out on all divisions. This is made up of 300 acres C. Ledgeriana, 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres C. officinalis, 44 acres C. Hybrid, and 5 acres C. succirubra. Of the area put out 208 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres have been debited to the Imperial Grant and 240 acres to the Provincial Budget.

The total of 1,744 acres carrying 1,696,291 trees on this plantation consists of 1,433 acres carrying 1,099,821 trees C. Ledgeriana; 181 acres carrying 464,668 trees C. officinalis; 83 acres carrying 94,944 trees C. Hybrid No. II and 47 acres carrying 3,685 trees C. succirubra.

The total of 551,836 lbs. of dry bark have been harvested from Munsong during the year. More was available, but the shortage of labour prevented its being taken off.

4. Plantations as a whole.—The area under Cinchona on both plantations is 2,246 acres, of which 1,367 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres are from 0-5 years old, 546 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres between 6 and 10 years old, 304 acres between 11 and 15 years old, and 28 acres 16 years and upwards. The large area of comparatively young plants is accounted for by the huge extensions which have taken place within the last two or three years. Over the total area some 2,163,603 trees are distributed, and from them a total dry bark harvest of about 13,000,000 lbs. may be expected within the next 12 years. The present year's harvest is 690,524 lbs. dry bark, of which quantity no fewer than 642,672 lbs. came from C. Ledgeriana trees.

5. Factory and outturn.—The quantity of bark used in the factory was 959,247 lbs. This consisted of 481,847 lbs. Ledger and Hybrid Java purchased barks and 477,400 lbs. Succirubra and Ledger plantation barks. Residual alkaloids 4,498 lbs. were also worked up.

The products yielded were 51,562 lbs. Quinine Sulphate, 1 lb. 14 oz. Cinchonidine Sulphate, 4 oz. Cinchonine Sulphate, 7,361 lbs. 4 oz. Cinchona Febrifuge and 1,205 lbs. Quinoidine (pure amorphous alkaloid), or a total production of 60,130 lbs. 6 oz. against 51,103 $\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. manufactured during the previous year. The increase is accounted for almost entirely under the Quinine Sulphate head. The production is the highest yet attained, being about 9,000 lbs. above the previous record. The 481,847 lbs. purchased bark yielded 32,043 lbs. Quinine Sulphate or 6.65 per cent. Laboratory analyses showed an average of 7.185 per cent. in the bark, so that the factory got out 92.5 of the total present. The 477,400 lbs. plantation bark yielded 20,374 lbs. Quinine Sulphate or 4.27 per cent. Analyses showed 4.52 per cent. Quinine on the bark so that the factory got out 94.41 per cent. of the possible. The gross weight of bought bark has, however, been taken for this calculation, whereas plantation bark is weighed after grinding. The total yield of Quinine was 52,417 lbs. or 93.3 per cent. of the Quinine actually in the bark. Though slightly below last year's return this still represents efficient working.

The factory ran up to practically its full capacity throughout the year. A serious accident to the reservoir which threatened to stop the running altogether occurred early in the year. The circumstances under which the landslip involving the reservoir occurred have already been reported to Government. Sooner or later a new reservoir will be necessary, but the present one in its patched up condition will be allowed to suffice as long as it holds together. Some additional plant has been installed on the purifying house and the construction of the new crystallising tanks proceeds as money, time and labour permit.

During the year the usual analytical work has been carried out, as also one or two minor investigations on the effects of disease on the Quinine contents of trees.

6. General charges.—The general charges against the department as a whole amount to Rs. 10,201-8-4 against Rs. 9,137-7-8 charged last year.

7. Mungpoo plantation charges.—Including Rs. 4,800 charged to the Imperial Grant, these amount to Rs. 16,545-6-3 against Rs. 39,686-3-6, last year's figure.

8. Munsong plantation charges.—Including Rs. 15,225 charged to the Imperial Grant, these amount to Rs. 83,687-9-11 against Rs. 68,235-15-4, last year's figure.

9. Total plantation charges.—Rupees 1,30,233-0-2 represent the total plantation charges this year against Rs. 1,07,922-2-10 for last year. Of this sum Rs. 20,025 were incurred under the Imperial Grant and Rs. 1,10,208-0-2 under the Provincial.

10. Factory charges.—The total factory charges amount to Rs. 1,33,299-2-2. The net working expenses incurred in the manufacture of factory products amount to Rs. 84,254-14-4 against Rs. 74,884-6-7 of last year.

11. Expenditure on factory additions and alterations.—A sum of Rs. 4,150-2 was spent under this head.

12. Storage and distribution charges.—A sum of Rs. 2,079-11-9 is shown as having been spent under this head. The sum of Rs. 2,264-11-9 not accounted for in this report was expended by the Prison Department in connection with the distribution of factory products.

13. Expenditure on bark purchase.—The sum of Rs. 52,853-3-10 was expended on the purchase, freight and carriage of Java-grown Ledger and Hybrid bark. Of this sum Rs. 50,196-1-1 went to the purchase of 125,966 lbs. Java bark and Rs. 2,657-2-9, to freight and carriage on same.

14. Cost of plantation bark.—This is calculated by dividing the annual expenditure per acre by the average annual increment of dry bark obtained from one acre. The average annual increment of dry bark per acre for Mungpoo works out this year to 380 lbs., that for Munsong, to 547 lbs. and the respective expenditures are Rs. 61 and Rs. 29 per acre, calculated over a period of from 8 to 12 years. Mungpoo bark therefore costs 2 $\frac{1}{4}$ th annas and Munsong $\frac{3}{4}$ th of an anna per lb. This is rather a misleading result and is to be accounted for by the fact that Munsong has only lately come to harvesting age; while Mungpoo has borne harvesting expenditure for many years. Moreover, there is a comparatively large acreage of young stock on Munsong which has as yet required little upkeep expenditure, while much of Mungpoo is aged. The average cost of plantation bark harvested this year works out to 1·1 anna per lb.

15. Value of plantation bark.—The average unit rate during the year was 5·44 cents per $\frac{1}{2}$ kilo, five Dutch cents = 1 anna and 5 kilo = 1·102 lb. From numerous analyses conducted an average of 4·52 per cent. Quinine Sulphate was determined for plantation bark. The value of the bark is therefore $\frac{4.52 \times 5.44 \times 1}{5 \times 1.102}$ or 1·46 annas per lb. against 3·62 annas per lb. last year. The total harvest of 690,524 lbs. is therefore worth Rs. 1,92,483-9. This is placed against an expenditure of Rs. 1,30,233-0-2 on the plantations which therefore show a working profit of Rs. 62,250-8-10. Moreover, the average yearly rate for bark is here taken in calculating its value, but the present rate for bark is 12 per cent. above this figure.

16. Cost of quinine production.—(a) Cost in bark.—The total quantity of bark used in the factory was 959,247 lbs., of which 477,400 lbs. were various plantation barks. The average cost of plantation bark is, as stated in paragraph 14, 1·1 anna per lb. The 477,400 lbs. therefore cost Rs. 32,821-4. They yielded 20,374 lbs. Quinine Sulphate, which therefore cost Re. 1-9-9 per lb. in the bark. The 481,847 lbs. Java bark worked up cost Rs. 1,99,681-1. They yielded 32,043 lbs. Quinine Sulphate which therefore cost Rs. 6-3-8 per lb. in the bark.

(b) Cost of extraction.—The net manufacturing charges, including share of general charges, were Rs. 84,254-14, to which must be added Rs. 6,287-8 for depreciation on factory buildings and machinery and Rs. 7,438-12-6 for decrease in value of stock of chemicals, making total manufacturing charges Rs. 98,181-2-10. This sum was expended in the manufacture of 51,562 lbs. Quinine Sulphate plus 855 lbs. Quinine Sulphate in the febrifuge, total 52,417 lbs. from 959,247 lbs. of bark. The cost of extraction based on these figures was therefore 1·637 anna per lb. of bark.

To extract 20,374 lbs. Quinine from 477,300 lbs. plantation bark therefore cost $\frac{477,400 \text{ lbs.} \times 1.637 \text{ anna}}{20,374 \text{ lbs. quinine}} =$ Rs. 2-6-4 per lb. Quinine. This, added to the cost of Quinine in plantation bark, i.e., Re. 1-9-9, brings the cost of Quinine from this source to Rs. 4-0-1 per lb.

The cost of extraction per lb. Java bark was $\frac{481,847 \text{ lbs.} \times 1.637 \text{ anna}}{32,043 \text{ lbs. quinine}} =$ Re. 1-8-7 and this, added to the cost per lb. of quinine in Java bark, i.e., Rs. 6-3-8, brings the cost of Quinine from this source to Rs. 7-12-3 per lb. There is therefore a difference of Rs. 3-12-2 per lb. in favour of Quinine from local bark.

17. Issue of products.—Through the courtesy of the Inspector-General of Prisons Bengal, and the Jail authorities a statement of the issue of products for this year has again been furnished. The products sold were as follows: Quinine Sulphate 20,971 lbs. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. against 13,787 lbs. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. last year; Cinchona Febrifuge 1,995 lbs. 8 oz. against 1,626 lbs. 4 oz. last year; Quinidine 1,247 lbs. 3 oz. against nil last year; Residual Alkaloids 532 lbs. against 464 lbs. last year. Sulphate of Cinchonidine and Cinchonine Sulphate were not sold during the year. The total sales of all products amounted to 24,733 lbs. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. against 15,879 lbs. 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz., sold last year.

18. Expenditure and receipts.—The total receipts for the year amount to Rs. 2,39,920-12-6, being Rs. 1,00,901-5-8 in excess of last year's receipts and Rs. 23,812-14-2 less than the year's expenditure. The net saving in the amount allotted for expenditure during the year was Rs. 491-5-4. Of the receipts Rs. 52,832-9-6 were in cash and Rs. 1,87,088-3 by book credit. Of the cash sales Rs. 36,670-15 were for Sulphate of Quinine; Rs. 10,073 for Cinchona Febrifuge; Rs. 1,724 for Residual Alkaloids; Rs. 3,220-12 for Quinoidine, Rs. 295 for Cinchona bark and Rs. 848-14-6 for miscellaneous items.

19. Stock account.—The Quinine reserve on 31st March 1914 stood at 162,964 lbs. 8½ oz., being an increase of 30,590 lbs. 5½ oz. during the year. The items in stock at the beginning of the year have been revalued and the items taken into stock during the year and the items in stock at the end of the year have been valued at the average rates at which they were sold by or purchased by the Department during 1913-14. The total value of stock of all sorts on 31st March 1914 was Rs. 21,06,651-4-9.

20. Capital account.—The net value of lands, buildings, machinery, etc., on 31st March 1914 was Rs. 7,02,012-11. This represents an increase in value during the year of Rs. 73,079-0-8. The increases and decreases in values are as follows: Factory buildings, increase, Rs. 1,856-2; Factory machinery, decrease, Rs. 3,994; Mungpoo Plantation buildings, decrease, Rs. 750; Mungpoo Plantation lands, increase, Rs. 6,575-6-8, Munsong Plantation buildings, decrease, Rs. 1,000; Munsong Plantation lands, increase, Rs. 70,391-3.

21. Profit and loss account.—This account shows a profit balance of Rs. 1,20,171-3-10 on the year's working

23. Miscellaneous—Rupees 5,139-11-3 collected for land rent and grazing privileges have been paid into the Darjeeling Treasury, but this amount has not been credited to the Cinchona Department.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 27th July 1914

Summary.—During the week under review light-to-moderate rain fell throughout the Province. More rain is urgently wanted in a number of places for the transplantation of winter rice and for the steeping and washing of jute. Harvesting of aus paddy and jute continues; but the harvesting of jute is being retarded in some places for want of steeping water. Injury by insect-pests to jute plants continues to be reported from Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore. Cattle-disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average price of common rice remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week.

H. L. STEPHENSON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RULES UNDER SECTION 24 OF THE PROVIDENT INSURANCE SOCIETIES ACT, 1912

Short title 1. These rules may be called the Bengal Provident Insurance Societies Rules, 1914

Definition 2. In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "the Act" means the "Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912";

(b) "society" means a Provident Insurance Society to which the Act applies,

(c) "provident insurance business" means any class of business to which the Act applies;

(d) "dividing society business" means provident insurance business under which the amount payable on the policy money becoming due is not fixed, but depends either partly or wholly on the results of the division of any portion of the premium income or funds amongst the policies which have become due for payment in proportion to the premiums received under each class in any specified period,

(e) "bond investment business" means the issue of bonds or policies by which the society, in return for premiums or subscriptions payable at periodical intervals of one year or less, contract to pay the legal holder of the bond or policy a sum at a future date either with or without the other specified benefits such as the right to share in the profits of the society or to an advance for certain specified objects, and not being life assurance business,

(f) "ordinary life assurance business" means life assurance business transacted on similar lines to those adopted by ordinary life assurance companies, namely, by granting annuities on human life, or by assuring a fixed sum payable at death, on survival or on the happening of any contingency dependent on human life in return for a premium which is fixed at the outset for each age at entry. This shall not exclude the case of sums assured and premiums which vary as the result of bonus ascertained by an actuarial valuation conducted in the manner provided for in the Fourth Schedule to the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912.

3. The provisions of the Act shall, in addition to the contingencies of birth, marriage and death prescribed in clause (8) of section 2 of the Act, extend to the receipt of premiums, or contributions for insuring money to be paid on the happening of any of the following contingencies, or of any other uncertain event coupled therewith, and shall apply to any society receiving such premium or contributions, namely.—

- (a) the payment of sums on a person or persons surviving a given term, age or contingency, and the contingencies arising under any other life assurance business which is not subject to the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912;
- (b) bond investment business;
- (c) failure of issue;
- (d) provision for the expenses of any ceremonial occasion, such as betrothal, circumcision, thread ceremonies, shaving of the head, etc., which is generally observed among the different communities in India;
- (e) unemployment or retirement from business;
- (f) sickness; and
- (g) accident

Provided always that the Act shall not apply to any society which is subject to, and complies with, the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912.

4. On the registration of a society, the Registrar shall grant a certificate to the society in Form No 1 in Part II of the Schedule annexed hereto; and on the registration of any other documents authorized or required to be recorded or filed he shall grant a certificate in Form No 2 in the said Part II

5. (1) No society subject to the Act may register hereafter with a name in which the words "life assurance" or "life insurance" occur or having a name either the same as that of any existing society or other company or so nearly resembling it as to be likely to lead to confusion

Provided that no society which has already been registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or under Act VI of 1882 before the date of these rules shall be required under this rule to register by a different name.

(2) The name of every society, which is required by section 12 of the Act to be displayed in a conspicuous position in legible letters on the outside of the office of the society, shall be displayed in English and in the vernacular of the district in which the office is situated

Provided that, in the case of offices of societies in the town of Calcutta, it will be sufficient if the name of the society is displayed in English alone.

6. (1) In accordance with the provisions of section 5 of the Act, every society,—

- (a) if already existing at the date when these rules come into force shall provide, within six months from that date, for such of the matters mentioned in Part I of the Schedule annexed hereto as are not already provided for in the rules of the society, subject to the condition that the terms of the then existing contracts shall not be altered to the detriment of the policy-holders:

Provided that if, in any case, it is made to appear to the Registrar that the circumstances are such that a longer period than six months should be allowed, he may extend that period by such time as he may think fit; and

- (b) if not existing at the said date, shall provide in its rule, before registration under the Act, for the matters mentioned in the said Part I.

(2) A copy in English of the rules of the society and of any amendments thereto and of the said Part I of the Schedule duly completed as aforesaid, shall, within fifteen days from the date of the adoption of the rules, be sent to the Registrar. Blank forms of the said Part I may be obtained from the Registrar and should be used on each occasion when particulars are being submitted in compliance with this rule.

(3) The copy of the rules or amended rules of a society required to be forwarded in compliance with this rule and sections 6 and 8 of the Act shall not be accepted for registration unless it is certified to be a correct copy and is signed by the Chairman or Managing Director or, if there is no Chairman or Managing Director, by all the Directors, as well as by the Manager, Managing Agent, or one of the other responsible officers of the society.

DRAFT RULES

1 Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll stations as notified in the Schedule of tolls for the purpose of assessment or check of toll charges.

2 For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3 The net tonnage of every vessel of class I, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements—

A.—The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

B.—The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

C.—The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of $12\frac{1}{2}$ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4 For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows:—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers, flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang, manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains and the amount of toll charged shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up at the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by a Canal officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the vessel will be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain permission from the toll collector of the nearest toll-station and give up the ticket to that officer while leaving the channel.

8. A vessel which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manji, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed. Provided that the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. The term "NAVIGATION OFFICER," as used in rule 6 shall include the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer, of the PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

11. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the toll collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the toll collector is satisfied about the identity of the boat.

12. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

13. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel whether due to negligence or otherwise the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner.

14. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

15. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

16. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

17. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta newspaper.

18. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

19. Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

20. For any infringement of rule 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 or 19, the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs 50 or Rs. 5 a day for any continuing infringement.

SCHEME FOR THE REORGANIZATION AND REFORM OF MADRASAS IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION.

DACCA, THE 31st JULY 1914.

RESOLUTION—No. 450T.G.

READ—

- (1) Letter No. 246 T., dated Darjeeling, the 10th June 1908, from Sir Archdale Earle to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department
- (2) Letter No 521 dated Shillong, the 1st August 1910, from the Director of Public Instruction, Eastern Bengal and Assam, to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam
- (3) Letter from the Government of India, Department of Education, No 585-595, dated the 3rd April 1913.

THE reform of the curriculum of studies in madrasas is a question which has for some time been exercising the attention of the Government of Bengal, and to which the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam devoted much consideration.

2. The private madrasas in this Presidency, though numerous, are, as a rule, small, understaffed institutions in which a mere smattering of Arabic and Persian is taught, but practically nothing else. Such an education is ill-suited for the requirements of the present day. The students find themselves unable to earn a livelihood and, for the most part, degenerate into useless members of society.

3. The leading Muhammadans of Bengal are fully alive to this evil and have repeatedly expressed their desire for a general reform of madrasas. They hold that the course of study pursued therein, whilst not being exclusively secular, should be such as is likely to produce cultured Muhammadans fit to enter one or other of the careers open to educated men, and to play their part in the various activities which go to make up the public life of modern India. They are alive to the need for scholars versed in the lore of Islam, but, while they recognize that scholars of this type will necessarily be few in number, they realize that, unless the community is to suffer, these exceptional persons must be genuine savants and real enthusiasts for religion and learning.

4. In 1903, the Government of Bengal, as the Province was then constituted, had before them a proposal that from the fourth class upwards two different courses should be taught in the Arabic Department of the Calcutta Madrasa—one partly English and partly Oriental, the other purely Oriental. This proposal was rejected, mainly because it was felt that while a knowledge of English was to be acquired at the expense of Oriental studies, the standard attained in that language would not be sufficiently high to justify the experiment. In the Resolution of the Government of Bengal in the General Department, No 731, dated the 24th February 1903, it was stated that, if a Muhammadan wished to learn English thoroughly, he should enter the Anglo-Persian Department of the Calcutta Madrasa, in which Arabic and Persian are taught as optional subjects for the Matriculation Examination.

5. In 1906, Mr. (now Sir Archdale) Earle, as Director of Public Instruction, reopened the general question of the education of Muhammadans. He was subsequently placed on special duty and presided at a series of Muhammadan Educational conferences held in 1907 and 1908. The two main questions discussed at these conferences were (1) the institution of a title examination for madrasa students in literature, law and theology similar to the Sanskrit title examination; and (2) the revision of the course of studies with a view to enable madrasa students to acquire such a knowledge of English as would fit them for Government service and other profitable employment. These conferences devoted a considerable amount of attention to the question whether English should be made a compulsory subject in madrasas—a matter on which there was great diversity of opinion. The proposal was ultimately negatived; but the Muhammadans of Eastern Bengal were practically unanimous in supporting it.

6. In 1909-10, a conference, representative of Muhammadan opinion in Eastern Bengal, was held in Dacca to consider the proceedings of Mr. Earle's conference of the previous year. After appointing sub-committees to consider various questions, it drew up a revised syllabus of studies for madrasas. This syllabus was submitted to the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam by Mr. Sharp in his letter No. 521, dated the 1st August 1910. Mr. Sharp pointed out that the revised curriculum attempted too much and contained a heterogeneous mixture of subjects; he was, therefore, unable to recommend its general adoption at the outset, but suggested that it should be tentatively introduced in two private madrasas.

7. At this point Mr. Nathan took up the case. The position which he assumed was that the revised curriculum should be as simple as possible, and should be introduced into as many madrasas as financial considerations would permit. With this object in view a conference was held in Dacca in March 1912, when the proposals of the 1910 conference were taken as a basis of discussion, and such modifications in them were suggested as appeared likely to make the course simpler and more practicable.

8. These revised proposals were under the consideration of the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam at the time of the redistribution of territories ; and, before any further progress had been made, the Government of India announced their intention of establishing a residential university at Dacca. The committee appointed by the Government of Bengal to frame a scheme for the new university decided to adopt the suggestion of the Government of India that a department of Islamic studies should be included in the new university, and appointed the following gentlemen as a sub-committee to work out details :—

Mr. R. Nathan, C.I.E., C.S.I.

The Hon'ble Nawab Syed Nawab Ali Chaudhuri.

Mr. W. A. J. Archbold.

Mr. Mohamed Ali.

Shams-ul-Ulama Abu Nasr Muhammad Waheed.

The Hon'ble Nawab Sir Khwaja Salimullah, G.C.I.E.

Shams-ul-Ulama Maulvi Shibli Sahib Nomani of Lucknow.

Maulana Shah Sulaiman of Phulwari (Patna).

Shams-ul-Ulama Kamaluddin Ahmad, Superintendent Chittagong Madrasa

Maulvi Muhammad Irfan, Professor, Dacca College.

Maulvi Muhammad Musa, Superintendent, Hooghly Madrasa.

Maulvi Fida Ali Khan, Professor, Chittagong College

As the university course must necessarily be an extension of the course followed in the madrasas, the sub-committee had to take into consideration the madrasa curriculum. They took as a starting-point the proposals made by the Dacca Madrasa Conference of March 1912. These proposals contemplated a Junior Department with seven classes and a Senior Department with five. The sub-committee reduced the number of classes to 6 and 4 respectively ; they approved generally the syllabus for the lower classes and worked out a detailed syllabus for the upper classes. The whole question was further examined in March 1913 at an informal conference over which Mr. Nathan presided, and some slight modifications were made in the text-books prescribed for the Junior Department. The courses of study, as finally recommended, together with the text-books to be prescribed, are given in full in Appendices I and II to this Resolution. They comprise instruction in the Koran, Urdu, Bengali, arithmetic, geography, history, English, Arabic, drawing, and handwork and drill. In the senior classes attention is concentrated on Arabic, English and mathematics.

9. The Governor in Council is satisfied that the syllabus of studies drawn up by experts in consultation with the leaders of the Muhammadan community is well calculated to serve the highest interest of that community. His Excellency in Council has, accordingly, decided to adopt this syllabus for all Government madrasas except the Calcutta Madrasa. The courses of study are set out in detail in Appendices I and II, and the staff required* to teach them in Appendix III. While not absolutely debarring from Government aid such institutions as adhere to the orthodox course, the Governor in Council will in future give preference to those that adopt the new course and entertain a staff on the scale prescribed.

10. From one point of view the reformed madrasa course may be regarded as preparatory to the Islamic studies of the Dacca University ; it is, however, complete in itself, and students who wish to pass from a madrasa to any university course other than that of Islamic studies will not find themselves hopelessly handicapped by reason of their lack of knowledge of general subjects.

The two outstanding features of this course are—

- (1) the omission of Persian ; and
- (2) the inclusion of English as a compulsory subject.

With regard to the first of these points, the Governor in Council fully realizes that 50 years ago a Muhammadan in Bengal with no knowledge of Persian would not have been counted an educated gentleman; but he is informed that even the most earnest advocate of Persian now recognizes how utterly opposed to all sound educational principles it is to attempt to make a boy learn five languages during his school career. And yet there is something to be said for the study by a Muhammadan schoolboy in Bengal of each of the following languages, viz., Bengali, Urdu, English, Arabic and Persian. A knowledge of Bengali is obviously indispensable, without at least a good working knowledge of English a Muhammadan cannot hope to make his way in the world, Urdu is, as it were, a link between the Muhammadans of Bengal and those of other parts of India, Arabic is the language of Islam. Between Persian and Urdu there is a close affinity, and during the last 50 years a great development has taken place in Urdu literature. The Governor in Council believes that Urdu, if properly taught, will contribute as much to the culture of Muhammadans at the present day as Persian did some 50 years ago. Under the circumstances His Excellency in Council has decided, not without regret, to omit Persian from the school course; and he notices that even Mr. Earle's conference, which was inclined to be conservative, made Persian optional with English.

11. Details of the staff required to teach the reformed madrasa course and of the salaries payable are given in Appendix III.

For the Senior Government Madrasas at Dacca, Chittagong and Hooghly fourteen teachers are provided at a cost of Rs. 1,540 a month. Including Rs. 180 for contingencies, the total monthly expenditure will be Rs. 1,720.

For the Government Junior Madrasa at Rajshahi a staff of eight teachers will be employed; and the monthly cost, inclusive of Rs. 15 for contingencies, will be Rs. 205.

Senior aided madrasas will be required to employ a staff of thirteen teachers at a cost of Rs. 720 a month and to provide Rs. 55 a month for contingencies. The total expenditure will thus be Rs. 775 a month.

For an aided junior madrasa working under the reformed scheme a staff of eight teachers is considered sufficient; and the scale of expenditure, including Rs. 15 a month for contingencies, is fixed at Rs. 205 a month.

12. The Governor in Council desires, however, that the new scheme should be brought in gradually. The revised curriculum cannot, at the outset, be introduced with advantage into any class above class III; hence the complete introduction of the junior course will cover a period of four years, and the senior course cannot be begun until after the lapse of this period. The full staff detailed in Appendix III will, therefore, not be required immediately, but the Governor in Council is of opinion that qualified Superintendents should be appointed at once for all aided madrasas which intend to adopt this course and to apply for Government aid. These institutions should be inspected by the Special Muhammadan Inspecting Officers, and a definite scheme should be drawn up for their development. Pending the introduction of the full scheme a proportionate grant will be given by Government to each institution which takes steps to adopt the reformed course.

13. The Governor in Council has decided to assign special funds out of which these madrasas may be assisted by liberal grants. The case of each madrasa will be considered independently and on its own merits, but the Government grant will not usually exceed half the total working cost of the institution, for special reasons, however, the Governor in Council will be prepared to make an exception to this principle.

14. Madrasas adopting the revised curriculum will in due course cease to take the examinations which are now conducted by the Central Board of Examiners for Bengal Madrasas. At the end of the junior course an examination will be held, on the results of which promotion from the Junior to the Senior Department will be decided and scholarships tenable in the Senior Department will also be awarded. At the end of class X a special Matriculation examination will be conducted by a Board appointed for the purpose. It will, however, be eight years before there are any candidates for this examination; in the meanwhile examinations for madrasa students will continue to be conducted by the Central Board of Examiners, Bengal Madrasas.

15. It has been stated that the Muhammadans are alive to the fact that their community needs real scholars versed in the lore of Islam. Bearing this need in mind, the Governor in Council has decided that one Government Madrasa in the Presidency of Bengal shall continue to teach the orthodox course, without English, or with English as an optional subject. Opinions have been collected as to which Madrasa should retain the old course, and they almost all point to the Calcutta Madrasa as the one in which the orthodox course should be maintained. It has therefore been decided that the reformed course as described above shall not be adopted in the Calcutta Madrasa. A separate and independent scheme for the improvement of this institution is being developed; and it is hoped that under this scheme the reputation of this historical institution will be maintained, and that it will produce scholars whose profound learning and high character will command the respect not only of their community but also of the public generally.

16. The Governor in Council considers it desirable to give at least six months' notice before the new courses are introduced, and has, accordingly, decided that the new scheme shall be brought into operation in Government and aided madrasas from the 1st of April 1915.

Ordered that this Resolution and the Revised Syllabus for Madrasas be published for general information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. F. SAMMAN,

Secretary to the Govt of Bengal

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL

Forecast of the Summer Til Crop, 1914-15.

(Note.—On the average of the five years ending 1911-12, the area under Til in Bengal represents some 5·7 per cent. of the total area under Til in British India.)

Character of the season.—There was a scarcity of rain at the time of sowing in Rajshahi, Bogra and Dacca, but in all other important til growing districts favourable weather prevailed during that period. In May excessive rain fell throughout the province which interfered with the weeding operations, impeded the growth of the crop and also damaged it to some extent. Some damage was also done by insects in Pabna. The character of the season was on the whole unfavourable. The outturn has fallen below the normal everywhere excepting Bankura, Birbhum, Malda and Chittagong where the crop is grown only on a small scale.

Area sown.—The total area sown with the crop is estimated at 219,300 acres against 185,200 acres of last year. The increase is chiefly due to more careful estimates made in the Jamalpur subdivision of the Mymensingh district.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of the district officers the outturn of the crop for the Province comes to 71 per cent against 76 per cent of last year. Taking the normal yield per acre to be $4\frac{1}{4}$ maunds, the gross outturn of the Province amounts to 24,300 tons against 22,000 tons of last year.

Director of Agriculture Bengal

	Acres	Acres	Acres
24-Parganas	100	100	100	67	100	April Normal	Not yet commenced	The character of weather has been favourable and the growth of the crop has been good
Murshidabad	1,000	2,000	1,800	58	88	February to March Normal	End of April to end of June.	The decrease in area as compared with last year is due to want of timely rainfall in the Andal subdivision, where the crop is chiefly grown. The weather was not favourable at sowing time. Sowing was affected by want of rain at the beginning. There was heavy rain in May and occasional rain thereafter. About 5 annas of the crop was damaged by floods in May. The outturn has therefore fallen below the normal
Jessore	3,300	800	1,000	56	83	February Normal	June Normal	The increase in area is due to timely rainfall. The weather was favourable for cultivation, but the growth of the crop was a little impeded by excessive rainfall which caused a little damage. The outturn has therefore fallen below the normal
Khulna	4,400	4,100	3,800	67	67	Beginning of February Normal	Middle of May Normal	The decrease in area is due to extension of jute cultivation in Satkhira subdivision. The weather was favourable at sowing time, but subsequent excessive rainfall damaged the crop to some extent. Hence the outturn is below the normal
Bardwan	3,800	3,000	3,000	88	88	January and March	May and June Normal	There was large increase in area in the Katwa subdivision owing to more careful enquiry. The weather was favourable at the time of sowing, but want of rain in some places and excessive rain in others somewhat unfavourably affected the crop later on.
Birbhum	400	400	400	54	100	March. Normal	June Normal	The character of weather as well as the growth of the crop were good
Bankura	2,700	2,000	2,000	88	100	Sadar—17th January Normal Vishnupur—Beginning of March. Late	June Normal	The weather and general condition of the crop were fair. The outturn has fallen below the normal in the Vishnupur subdivision owing probably to the late sowing of the crop for want of rain, but this did not materially affect the outturn of the district, as the area sown in that subdivision was small as compared with that in the Sadar
Midnapore	20,900	9,700	8,500	66	58	March and April Normal	May and June Normal	The decrease in area was due to extension of jute cultivation in Ghatal subdivision, and was also partly due to the fact that no til was sown in the flooded area in the Bhagawanpur thana. The weather was favourable in Sadar, fair in Ghatal, and unfavourable in Contal and Tamluk subdivisions. The outturn is below the normal for the heavy rain at the harvesting time
Hugli	1,000	900	700	83	83	Middle of March. Normal	First week of June. Normal	The decrease in area was due to untimely rainfall. The character of weather at sowing time and up till now has not been favourable. Owing to heavy rain at the beginning the outturn is below the normal
Howrah	300	100	100	50	76	Middle of February Normal	Beginning of June Normal.	The weather was fair at sowing time, but later on the crop was affected to a certain extent in consequence of insufficient rainfall. Hence the outturn is below the normal

Want of rainfall at sowing time and heavy rainfall in May affected the growth of the crop to some extent. Hence the outturn is below the normal.
Dinajpur	400	100	100	2 ⁵	75	Beginning of May late	August Late	The weather conditions have not been favourable. Scanty rainfall in March and April has retarded the cultivation of the crop.
Rangpur	100	200	200	80	80	March Normal	June Normal	The weather conditions were favourable at the time of sowing but since heavy rain has damaged the crop to a certain extent. Hence the outturn is below the normal.
Bogra	14,000	5,000	3,600	25	50	Middle of April	Middle of June Normal	The decrease in area is due to increased cultivation of jute. Scarcity of rain during the sowing time and heavy rain afterwards retarded the growth of the crop. The outturn, however, is better than last year.
Faridpur	33,500	31,000	31,500	100	50	Middle of March Normal	1st week of June Normal	The weather was favourable at the time of sowing, but heavy rain later on in May caused much damage to the crop. Some damage was also done by insects. The outturn has therefore fallen below the normal.
Malda	500	500	400	100	100	March Normal	Not yet commenced	The weather conditions have been good. The outturn is expected to be normal.
Dacca	8,100	12,000	12,900	60	60	March, except in Munshiganj where it began at the end of January Normal	June, except in Munshiganj where it began at the end of May Normal	The decrease in area is due to large area being sown with jute in Munshiganj subdivision. At sowing time the character of the weather was not very favourable in some places and the growth of the crop was affected owing to incessant rain afterwards. The outturn is below the normal owing to heavy damage caused by rain and hail in Munshiganj subdivision.
Mymensingh	112,200 ⁶	64,000	105,400	70	78	Early in March Normal	Middle of June Normal	The increase in area this year is due to the fact that the subdivisional Officer of Jamalpur has for the first time shown 44,660 acres more under the crop. The weather was favourable at sowing time but incessant rain afterwards retarded the seedling and growth of the plants. The percentage is below the normal owing to abnormal rainfall after sowing and drought towards the end.
Faridpur	11,200 ⁵	5,800	10,000	70	95	End of January, Normal	End of May Normal	The increase in area is due to revision by the settlement authorities. The weather conditions have been favourable. The outturn is almost normal.
Bakerganj	16,200	3,500	4,100	60	48	Middle of February Normal	Ditto	The decrease in area is due to excessive rainfall. The unfavourable weather caused the outturn to fall below the normal.
Chittagour	200	200	200	100	100	March Normal	First week of July Normal	The weather was favourable.
Tippur	11,000	9,500	8,600	75	80	Ditto	June Normal	The decrease in area is due to the fact that less area was cultivated this year as the crop was damaged by insects last year. The weather conditions were fair. The growth of the crop was not quite favourable as some damage was done by untimely rainfall. Hence the outturn is below the normal.
Noakhali	14,600	14,500	14,500	66	80	February Normal	Ditto	The weather was favourable at the time of sowing but there was excessive rainfall afterwards. Hence the outturn is below the normal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE INDIAN COMPANIES ACT, 1882, (VI OF 1882) AND THE SOCIETIES REGISTRATION ACT, 1860 (XXI OF 1860), IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1913-14.

No 56 F.—D, dated Darjeeling, the 3rd June 1914

From—THE HON'BLE RAI P N MOOKERJEE BAHADUR, Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith in original, the Report submitted by the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, Calcutta, on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, and the Societies Registration Act, XXI of 1860, in Bengal for the year 1913-14, with ten tabular statements prescribed by the Government of India. The present Registrar of Companies has forwarded another statement (Statement XI) showing the Societies which were registered under Act XXI of 1860 during the year 1913-14. In previous years an account of such Societies was given in the body of the Report. The Registrar has not mentioned in his Report how far the provisions of sections 69 and 74 of Act VI of 1882 were infringed, and if any prosecutions were instituted for such infringement. As this is the last Report under Act VI of 1882, it would have been useful if some information were given under these heads. I have called for it, and shall submit it on receipt, rather than delay this report much beyond the due date.

2 The outstanding events of the year under review are —

- (i) Legislation undertaken to thoroughly revise the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, which has since been replaced by the Indian Companies Act, VII of 1913, which came into force from 1st April 1914.
- (ii) Appointment of a separate whole-time officer to administer the new Companies Act, the work being taken from the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta.

As it was expected that the new Companies Act would considerably increase the duties and responsibilities of the Registrar in addition to work which had already been undertaken under the Provident Insurance Societies and Life Assurance Acts, V and VI of 1912, the Local Government decided to recommend to the Government of India that the work should be taken from the Registrar of Assurances and a whole-time officer appointed for discharging these important functions. The sanction of the Government of India to this proposal was received shortly before the close of the year 1913-14 and a whole-time officer with a suitable establishment has been appointed from 1st April 1914. Mr. F. R. Corson, who is the officer so appointed, has submitted this report through the Inspector General of Registration—a practice which obtained when the Registrar of Assurances, Calcutta, was also the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies. I would suggest that he be asked to submit future reports direct to Government, as he is directly under the Financial Department.

No 587, dated Calcutta, the 1st June 1914.

From—F. R. CORSON, ESQ., A.C.A., Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies, Bengal,

To—The Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annual report of the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, and the Societies Registration Act, XXI of 1860, in Bengal for the year 1913-14, with the ten statistical tables prescribed by the Government of India.

1 Statement No I.—The number of companies limited by shares working at the close of the year was 973, as against 847 at 31st March 1913. Their capital compared as follows:—

Nominal.		Paid up.
Rs.		Rs.
1912-13	... 87,49,16,900	1912-13	... 27,08,01,086
1913-14	... 92,89,62,900	1913-14	... 28,51,34,118

These figures are to a great extent meaningless as the number of new companies whose paid-up capital is not included is considerable, whereas in the case of companies in liquidation or defunct during the period the

2. Statement No. II.—The number of companies registered during the year was 165 as against 138 in the preceding year. Of these 2 were limited by guarantee, 10 were registered under the Societies Registration Act of 1860, and 153 were limited by shares.

3. Classified List of Companies limited by shares registered during the year of report and the preceding year—

	1913-14.	1912-13.
Banking and Loan	21	14
Insurance	40	46
Trading Companies	54	27
Mills and Presses	6	4

Mining and Quarrying	9	17
Land and Building	2	2
Ice manufacturing	1	...
Other companies	1	...
Sugar manufacturing	1
	153	135

4. The only point calling for notice is the increase under the head "Trading Companies," which is due to the registration of several light railway companies, to the formation of a number of native-owned motor companies, and to the conversion into limited companies of several large mercantile and trades firms. The imminence of the coming into force of the new Companies Act, 1913 was the cause of the numerous registrations in March.

5. Statement No. VI—In previous reports, the date of dissolution of a company has been taken as that on which the liquidators final report was filed. This is now shown as three months after the filing of such report.

6. During the year 1,703 papers were registered, and fees amounting to Rs. 37,663 were received.

7. As the work of the registry of Joint-Stock Companies was carried on as heretofore partly by its own staff and partly by clerks drafted when required from the Calcutta Registry Office, no statement of the cost of establishment can be shown.

RESOLUTION ON THE EXCISE POLICY OF GOVERNMENT.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

EXCISE.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH AUGUST 1914.

RESOLUTION—No. 1322S.R.

READ—

Resolution from the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, No 6306—6323-221, dated the 25th July 1914

THE excise policy of Government in India has been so often attacked and defended that there should be no room for doubt as to the essential principles that underlie that policy. The recent Temperance Deputation to the Secretary of State in London and the similar Deputation to His Excellency the Viceroy in Calcutta, however, afford a useful opportunity for reviewing the declarations of excise policy made by Government from time to time and of showing that while divergent circumstances in different parts of the country may make it necessary to attain to the desired end by different excise methods there has never been any hesitation as to the end that is desired or the principles that must underlie every excise measure.

2. The first pronouncement on the subject was made more than a quarter of a century ago by the Secretary of State in connection with a debate in the House of Commons. The principles which were then held to be the basis of correct excise policy in India were—

- (i) that any extension of the habit of drinking should be discouraged ;
- (ii) that taxation should be as high as possible without encouraging illicit manufacture or vend ;
- (iii) that subject to these considerations, a maximum revenue should be raised from a minimum consumption of intoxicating liquors.

3. The Government of India made an exhaustive examination of the charges then made against the Indian excise administration, and in their despatch to the Secretary of State showed that the principles by which the Revenue officers were in fact guided in excise matters were—

- (i) that the taxation of spirituous and intoxicating liquors and drugs should be high, and in some cases as high as it is possible to enforce ,
- (ii) that the traffic in liquor and drugs should be conducted under suitable regulations for police purposes ;
- (iii) that the number of places for the sale of liquor and drugs should be strictly limited with regard to the circumstances of the locality ;
- (iv) that efforts should be made to ascertain the existence of local public sentiment and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained.

It was at the same time definitely stated that in the opinion of the Government of India the total prohibition of the consumption of stimulants in India, even if desirable, was impracticable.

4. These principles were reaffirmed in 1904 in a letter from the Government of India to the Local Government when the Government of India added that they were fully alive to the evil consequences of drinking in excess and that the raising of revenue had never been set forth as a primary object of excise administration. They again desired that it should be impressed upon all officers who administered the excise laws that the growth of excise revenue was to be regarded as satisfactory only when it resulted from the substitution of licit for illicit manufacture and sale, and not from a general increase of consumption.

5. In the following year in appointing the Indian Excise Committee the Government of India again emphasised their policy. The Resolution disclosed that the Government of India have no desire to interfere with the habits of those who use alcohol in moderation; this is regarded as outside the duty of Government and it is necessary to make due provision for the needs of such persons. The settled policy of Government is to minimise temptation to those who do not drink and to discourage excess amongst those who do; and to the furtherance of this policy all considerations of revenue must be absolutely subordinated. The most effective method of furthering this policy is to make the tax upon liquor as high as it is possible to raise it without stimulating illicit production to a degree which would increase instead of diminishing the total consumption, and without driving people to substitute drugs for alcohol or a more for a less harmful form of liquor. Subject to the same considerations, the number of liquor shops should be restricted as far as possible and their location should be periodically subject to strict examination with a view to minimise the temptation to drink and to conform as far as is reasonable to public opinion. It is also important to secure that the liquor which is offered for sale is of good quality and not necessarily injurious to health.

6. In a recent Resolution the Government of India have indicated the general measures which should be adopted to carry out this policy as follows :—

- (i) every effort should be made to suppress illicit methods of all kinds;
- (ii) in order to effect this, the excise staff should be utilised in directions calculated to maintain the closest supervision over the liquor and drug traffic;
- (iii) so far as is possible, without unduly encouraging illicit methods, consumption should be discouraged—
 - (a) by the levy of as high a rate of duty as is possible, taking into account the special conditions of the locality;
 - (b) by reducing, as far as possible and with due regard to legitimate requirements, the number of retail shops for the sale of liquor and drugs;
 - (c) by regulating and closely supervising the hours of sale, the selection of sites and the general practices adopted in manufacture and vend.
- (iv) Advisory committees should be appointed where possible, and effect should be given to their recommendations in so far as they are consistent with the general principles laid down.

7. The principles thus consistently laid down have been fully accepted by the Government of Bengal, and His Excellency in Council desires that the necessity of carrying them out may be impressed upon all officers engaged in Excise administration.

ORDER.—Ordered that the foregoing Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and a copy of it be sent to the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, for information and for communication to all local officers concerned with the administration of excise revenue in Bengal.

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. L. STEPHENSON,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 3rd August 1914.

Summary.—During the week under review light-to-moderate rain fell throughout the Province excepting in Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Bakarganj, Chittagong, Noakhali and Chittagong Hill Tracts, where the rainfall was seasonable. More rain is urgently wanted in a number of places. Harvesting of autumn rice is progressing favourably, but that of jute is being delayed for want of steeping water. Transplantation of winter rice is also being retarded owing to deficient rainfall. Further reports of damage to jute by insect-pests have been received from parts of Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore and Midnapore. Cattle-disease is reported from fourteen districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0·3 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

- (xiii) Settlement of fair rents under sections 105 and 105A.
- (xiv) Trial of suits under section 106.

Provided that stage (v),—local explanation,—may be omitted with the approval of the Director of Land Records.

(2) A Revenue-officer who has been appointed with the additional designation of "Settlement Officer" may, at any time before the publication of the final record, direct that any portion of the proceedings in respect of the lands of any local area, estate or tenure or part thereof, shall be cancelled and that the proceedings shall be carried out de novo from such stage as he may direct.

(3) When an order has been made under section 103 directing that all or any of the particulars specified in section 102 shall be ascertained and recorded with respect to any estate or tenure or part thereof, the Revenue-officer shall proceed in accordance with the following rules (in this Part and in Part III of this Chapter), so far as they may be applicable.

51. Traverse Survey.—The cadastral survey of the notified area shall be based upon a traverse survey, and such traverse shall ordinarily be carried out by theodolite observations. If possible, the traverse survey shall be connected with one or more points which have been fixed by previous surveys.

52. Cadastral Survey.—(1) In the course of proceedings under section 101 of the Act, a large-scale map showing roads, rivers, railways and other physical features of the country, as well as homesteads and other fields, shall be prepared for each village contemplated by section 115A of the Act as the unit of survey and record.

(2) When the area contained within the external boundaries of the village maps of the previous survey contemplated by section 115A is unsuitable as the unit of survey and record, or, if there has been no such previous survey, the Settlement Officer shall, after ascertaining, as far as possible, the opinions of the landlords and tenants concerned, submit his proposals for the determination of the area to be adopted as the unit of record and survey to the Board of Revenue through the controlling officers to whom he is subordinate. That unit shall, if sanctioned by the Board of Revenue, be adopted in framing the record-of-rights, but shall not be deemed to constitute a village within the meaning of the Act until a notification has been issued under section 3 (10) (b). The Board of Revenue shall submit a copy of its order in each case to the Local Government for the issue of the notification.

53. Erection of Boundary Marks.—Boundary marks of a permanent nature shall ordinarily be erected at every point where the boundaries of three villages meet, and may also be erected at any other points where this is necessary, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, for the definition of any boundary.

54. Preliminary Record-writing.—At this and the two following stages the draft record shall be prepared. The draft record shall consist of statements of rights which are hereinafter styled the khatians. There shall ordinarily be a separate khatian for each person interested or each group of persons jointly interested, in the land, whether as proprietor, tenure-holder, riyat, under-riyat or occupant, and each khatian shall show the rights and liabilities of each person or group of persons according to the particular which have been specified in the notification under section 101. At this stage all such particulars shall find entry, with the exception that no entry shall be made as to the revenue, rent or cess, the class to which the tenant belongs, or the special conditions and incidents of the tenancy. At this stage there shall also be prepared a field-index or khasra arranged according to the serial numbers of the fields in the village. This field-index shall not form part of the draft record. Disputes regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by a Revenue-officer or a kanungo in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession.

55. Local Explanation.—When the areas of the fields have been extracted and entered in the preliminary record, a copy of each khatian shall be made over by a Revenue-officer or a kanungo to the person or body of joint persons in whose names the khatian has been opened, or to their representatives. Each khatian shall then be examined on the ground, with reference to the village map, by a Revenue-officer or a kanungo, and shall be explained to the person or persons concerned, or their representatives, if present. The Revenue-officer or kanungo shall make such corrections as are necessary in the map, in the draft record, and in the copies of the khatians which have been distributed, if they can be produced for this purpose. At this stage entries of the rent which is payable according to the statement of the landlord and according to the statement of the tenant shall be made in the draft khatians of the tenants and in such copies as are produced; but the other particulars which were omitted at the stage of preliminary record-writing shall be deferred until the stage of attestation.

56. Attestation.—This stage of the operations shall be taken up after the landlords and tenants have been allowed a sufficient interval to study their copies of the khatians. The attestation of each village shall be taken up at a convenient place in or near the village. Before attestation begins, a proclamation shall be published in the village giving due notice to the landlords and tenants and calling on them to appear before the Revenue-officer on the date fixed, bringing with them their copies of the khatians. As each person appears before him the Revenue-officer shall examine his khatian, read out all the important entries, make corrections where required, and see that the khatian is complete in all particulars. Disputes regarding the ownership of land or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue-officer in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession. In the khatian of each proprietor or group of proprietors he shall enter with his own hand the revenue payable to Government. In the khatian of each tenant or group of tenants he shall enter with his own hand the class to which the tenant or group of tenants belongs, the special conditions and incidents (if any) of the tenancy and the rent lawfully payable or deliverable to each landlord or group of landlords. In the khatian of each cultivating riyat as defined in the Cess Act, the Revenue-officer shall, and in the khatian of each tenure-holder as defined therein, the Revenue-officer shall, as far as possible, record the cess lawfully payable to each landlord or group of landlords. The Revenue-officer shall then sign and date the office copy of the khatian and if the copy of the khatian, which was given to the person or persons concerned, is produced, the Revenue-officer shall see that it corresponds with the office copy as attested. When the Revenue-officer has completed the attestation of all the khatians of a village, he shall draw up a formal proceeding to this effect.

Ben Act

57. Publication of the Draft Record—The Revenue-officer shall publish the draft record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection, free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the draft record of that village will be open to public inspection, the period during which it will be open to such inspection, and the last date on which objections may be filed. Notwithstanding anything contained in the proclamation, the Revenue-officer may extend the period during which the draft record will be open to inspection and during which objections may be filed.

58. Objections under section 103A—(1) Blank forms of objection shall be supplied free of charge and objections shall, as far as practicable, be made on such forms. Along with the original objection, the objector shall file a copy or copies for service on all other persons who, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, are materially interested in the case. The Revenue-officer shall issue notices informing the objector and all other persons so interested of the date and place fixed for the hearing of the objection, and with each notice to a person other than the objector he shall forward a copy of the objection. Objections regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue-officer on the basis of actual possession. The record shall contain the names of the witnesses examined and an abstract of the reasons for the decision. When a Revenue-officer directs that a change shall be made in the rent recorded as payable by any tenant he shall direct that a corresponding change shall be made in the cess, if any, recorded as payable by such tenant. Objections shall not be disposed of in the absence of any of the parties materially interested, or their representatives, unless the Revenue-officer be satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing, that the notice was duly served on the person concerned.

(2) Whenever the Revenue-officer has been unable, before the publication of the draft record, to enter the cess payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in any local area, and whenever, owing to a revaluation duly made after the publication of the draft record, there have been changes in the cess lawfully payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in such local area, the Collector may, at any time before the final publication of the record, make an objection to the omissions or entries in question, and the Revenue-officer shall thereupon proceed, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1) of this rule, to consider the objection, and, if necessary, to make in the draft record of such local area entries or revised entries of the cess which is then lawfully payable by each tenure-holder concerned:

Provided that no such entry or revised entry shall be made unless the tenure-holder has been previously informed of the proposed entry and has been given an opportunity of objecting thereto.

59. Preparation of a settlement rent-roll.—Where land revenue is being, or is about to be, settled, the Revenue-officer shall prepare a rent-roll for each village, in accordance with the following procedure :—

- (i) Before preparing the rent-roll the Revenue-officer shall issue a proclamation informing the landlords and tenants of the time and place at which the preparation of the rent-roll will begin. If any tenant be absent, the Revenue-officer shall make no entry in the rent-roll which would have the effect of altering the rent of that tenant until a special notice has been duly served on that tenant.
- (ii) When the Revenue-officer is preparing the settlement rent-roll on the basis of a table of rates, he shall consult the landlord and tenants of the village regarding their own classification of the lands therein and regarding the relative capability of each class of land, according to that classification. When specifying in the table of rates the rate of rent which is fairly and equitably payable in respect of each class of land, the Revenue-officer shall specify and have regard to the rate of rent which is now being paid in respect of each class of land, and shall also have regard to the statements of the landlords and tenants as to the classification and relative capability of lands. Before settling any rent upon the application of the table of rates the Revenue-officer shall consider the circumstances of the tenant and shall compare the total rent which he is now paying with the rent which he would pay according to the table of rates. He shall also consider whether the land held by the tenant is good or bad land of its class.
- (iii) When determining the final entries to be made in the rent-roll, the Revenue-officer shall read out, or cause to be read out in his presence, the principal entries relating to the holding and rent of each tenant whose rent is to be settled, and shall enter in the rent-roll with his own hand the fair rent settled for each such tenant.
- (iv) The Revenue-officer shall enter in the settlement rent-roll the cess which is payable by each tenant to his landlord after the determination of the fair rent.
- (v) The publication of the draft table of rates, if any, and of the draft settlement rent-roll shall be carried out in the manner and for the period prescribed in the case of the publication of the draft record-of-rights.
- (vi) Objections under section 104B (3) or under section 104E of the Act shall ordinarily be disposed of by the Revenue-officer, in or near the village in which the land is situated. The Revenue-officer shall record his reasons for each order on an objection. Appeals will lie against these orders to the superior Revenue authority mentioned in rule 48.

60. Preparation of the Final Record.—When all objections under section 103A of the Act have been disposed of, and when the settlement rent-roll, if any, has been prepared, sanctioned and incorporated with the record, and when the draft record has been corrected in accordance with the original and appellate orders on all objections, the Revenue-officer shall proceed to frame the final record. The final record shall be prepared in conformity with the draft record corrected as above, and shall consist of a series of khatians prepared on forms which are generally similar to the forms used for the khatians of the draft record. The khassra shall not form part of the final record. The final record shall be printed or prepared in manuscript, according as the Local Government may, by general or special order, determine.

61. Publication of the Final Record.—The Revenue-officer shall publish the final record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the final record of that village will be open to public inspection and the period during which it will be open to such inspection.

62. Distribution of printed maps and of copies of the Final Record.—The maps which have been prepared under rule 52 (1) may be printed under the authority of the Local Government, and may be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. Copies of the final record-of-rights, or of portions thereof, shall be printed or prepared in manuscript and shall, after certification under section 76 of the Indian Evidence Act, be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. The printed maps and the copies of the record or of portions thereof, which are distributed under this rule to persons other than public officers shall be distributed free or on payment, according as, in the case of each local area, the Local Government may direct. When payment is required the sums so received shall ordinarily be adjusted against the expenses incurred on account of survey and settlement, should the account of those expenses still be open.

PART III.

PROCEDURE AFTER FINAL PUBLICATION.

Settlement of fair rents under Sections 105 and 105A.

63. (1) When the landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of a fair rent, he shall be considered as plaintiff and the opposite party as defendant. The proceedings shall be dealt with as suits and, subject to the directions contained in this rule, the Revenue-officer shall adopt, as far as it is applicable, the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure for the trial of suits.

(2) When the estate or tenure is managed by the Court of Wards or by a manager appointed by the District Judge under section 95 of the Act and a settlement of revenue is not being or is not about to be made, the procedure laid down in this rule for recording and settling rents shall be followed, the manager of the estate or the tenure being regarded as the landlord.

(3) When a landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of fair rent notice shall be served on every person interested in the application, together with a copy of the application, or extract therefrom, or summary thereof, so far as the application concerns such persons.

(4) With the consent of the Revenue-officer, any number of tenants occupying land under the same landlord in the same village may make a joint application for the settlement of rent, or may be joined as defendants in the same proceedings on a similar application by the landlord :

Provided that, if at any time it appears to the Revenue-officer that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, he may order a separate trial to be held of that question, or he may pass such order, in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, for the joint or separate disposal of the application, as he may think fit.

(5) On the date fixed for the settlement of fair rents, or any subsequent date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the Revenue-officer shall read aloud, or cause to be read aloud in his presence, the name of each tenant whose rent has to be settled, the area of his tenancy, and the existing rent, and shall then proceed to settle a fair rent under the provisions of section 105 of the Act.

(6) When a landlord or tenant does not attend, after due service of notice has been proved, the procedure may be ex parte.

(7) Where a landlord or a tenant appears and the fair rent is not settled under sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of section 105 of the Act, that is, by the acceptance by the parties of a rent proposed by the Revenue-officer, or by compromise, the Revenue-officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in clause (f) of section 148 of the Act for the trial of rent suits, and shall settle a fair and equitable rent according to law :

Provided that in important cases the Revenue-officer may, in his discretion, record evidence at length.

(8) When a fair rent has been settled under these rules, it shall be entered in the khatian as the rent payable in respect of the tenancy from the date prescribed by section 110 of the Act.

(9) It shall not be necessary for a Revenue-officer to draw up a separate decree with regard to the fair rent settled; but the entry made in his decision or schedule attached thereto with regard to the fair rent settled shall be held to be a decree.

(10) A proceeding under section 105A of the Act shall be considered as part of the proceeding under section 105 in which the issue arose, and the record of a proceeding under section 105A shall be considered as part of the record of the proceeding under section 105. In trying and deciding issues under section 105A, the Revenue-officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in sub-rule (7) of this rule.

64. Suits under section 106.—Proceedings under section 106 of the Act shall be dealt with in all respects as suits between the parties.

Rules under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, not to apply to proceedings under section 106, 105A or 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act

65. The rules issued by the Local Government under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, shall not apply to proceedings in the Court of a Revenue-officer under section 105, 105A or 106 of the Act.

Applications under section 108A by whom to be dealt with

66. Applications under section 108A of the Act for the correction of bond fide mistakes must be dealt with by a Revenue-officer specially empowered by the Local Government. If they are presented to a Revenue-officer not specially empowered under that section, he shall receive them and forward them with his report to the Revenue-officer so empowered. The Court-fee payable on every such application is eight annas.

RESOLUTION—No. 2545 Medl.

The 11th August 1914.

In 1906 the Calcutta University decided to discontinue the examination for the License in Medicine and Surgery which had been held since 1861 and to restrict the functions of the University to the examinations for the degrees of M.B., M.D. and M.O. This decision was formed after an exhaustive enquiry had been made into medical education throughout India by Surgeon-General Sir G. Bomford, with whose recommendations practically every University in India concurred. The last L.M.S. Examination was therefore held in 1911, though the failed students were allowed to appear up to 1913, but it soon became evident that while it is desirable that the University should encourage a high standard of medical education by putting before its students only the highest form of qualification, there is still room for a half mark or license to practise intermediate between this high qualification and the certificate given at the Government medical schools. In England there are many degrees of qualifications below the highest, and it was realised that the abolition of the L.M.S. Examination must result either in lowering the standard of the M.B., or in shutting out a considerable body of candidates who, while unable to attain to the highest qualifications, are yet above the standard of those who pass out from the Government medical schools and are quite capable of profiting by a wider course of training than that prescribed for those schools.

2. To meet this situation one possible alternative was to reverse the decision of the University in 1906 and reinstitute the L.M.S. Examination; but the reasons which led to that decision have still as much force as ever, and no University in England or on the Continent concerns itself with the grant of qualifications in medicine and surgery lower than a degree. The Governor in Council has therefore decided that the proper course is to establish a separate body to be called "The State Medical Faculty," which shall examine and certify to the qualifications of those medical students who are unable to attain to the high standard required for the M.B. degree. An additional advantage of this course will be the possibility of standardising the examination of candidates from the Government medical schools and from those private medical schools whose equipment and training may justify them in aspiring to a registrable qualification for their students.

3. The Bengal Medical Act which was passed last April has conferred upon the Bengal Council of Medical Registration the duties of general supervision over the interests of the medical profession and the progress of medical education, and it rests with that body to decide when the training and equipment of a school or college are such as to justify the grant of a registrable qualification to its successful students. It is undesirable that the functions of this Council, which is largely elective and is the first step towards self-government in the profession, should be trenched upon by any other body, and the responsibilities of the State Medical Faculty will therefore be confined to arranging for the examination of students from colleges and schools which have been approved for this purpose by the Council of Medical Registration. The State Medical Faculty will grant a diploma of membership and a license, the former corresponding to the L.M.S. and the latter to the certificate given by the Government medical schools, and it is expected that the Council of Medical Registration will recognise these qualifications as registrable under section 18 (a) of the Bengal Medical Act and thus avoid the multiplicity of titles and qualifications which would otherwise be necessary when private schools and colleges are approved by the Council. As the State Medical Faculty will be purely an examining body and it is desirable that their diploma and license should have the weight of Government authority, the Governing Body will be appointed by His Excellency in Council.

4. The statutes and bye-laws of the State Medical Faculty, which is hereby constituted, are published below for general information —

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. L. STEPHENSON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DRAFT RULES.

1. Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll stations as notified in the Schedule of tolls for the purpose of assessment or check of toll charges.

2. For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below —

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II.—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3. The net tonnage of every vessel of class 1, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements.—

A.—The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

B.—The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches, the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

C.—The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of $12\frac{1}{2}$ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4. For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows:—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers, flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I, shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang, manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains and the amount of toll charged shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up at the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by a Canal officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the vessel will be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain permission from the toll collector of the nearest toll-station and give up the ticket to that officer while leaving the channel.

8. A vessel, which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manji, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed. Provided that the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion, permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. The term "NAVIGATION OFFICER," as used in rule 6, shall include the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act, and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer, of the PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

11. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the toll collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the toll collector is satisfied about the identity of the boat.

12. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

13. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner.

14. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices, or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

15. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

16. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

17. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta newspaper.

18. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

19. Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

20. For any infringement of rule 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 or 19, the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 or Rs. 5 a day for any continuing infringement.

The 31st July 1914

No 540.—The following further correspondence regarding the restriction of the growth of the Indian Medical Service and the employment of medical practitioners, is published for general information in continuation of the papers published with the Home Department Resolution No. 558, dated the 21st May 1909 —

No 21 OF 1910

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

HOME DEPARTMENT

SANITARY Medical

To

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF CREWE, K.G.,

His Majesty's Secretary of State for India

Calcutta, the 17th November 1910.

MY LORD,

Lord George Hamilton, in his despatch No. 45, dated the 4th May 1899, referred to the great increase in the Indian Medical Service which had taken place between the years 1884 and 1899 and asked whether means could not be found to reduce the establishment or at any rate to restrict its increase.

Later, in his despatch No. 5, dated the 18th January 1900, written in reply to the despatch from Lord Curzon's Government, No. 185, dated the 26th October 1899, he remarked that the question of reducing the establishment of the Indian Medical Service or of restricting its growth was one which deserved attention, both on the ground of economy and also with reference to the recruitment question; and that the two questions were closely connected, because any failure in the supply of candidates might call for remedies involving considerable permanent increase of expenditure. He observed that it was clear that if the increase of the number of medical officers in the pay of Government, or the specialisation of their functions, were to keep pace with the growth of an immense population the extension of the service might proceed indefinitely. He assumed that he would have the concurrence of the Government of India in thinking that an attempt to organise medical relief or research on a scale which would be much larger than that which was required for administrative duties was neither expedient nor practicable, and added that it was of material importance that no impediments should be placed in the way of the gradual spread through the interior of India of an independent medical profession, which alone could adequately supply the needs of the people.

2. Lord George Hamilton reverted to the question in his despatches No. 29, dated the 15th March 1900, and No. 157, dated the 13th December 1900, in connection with a scheme for improving the administration of asylums in India by the appointment of officers of the Indian Medical Service as whole-time Superintendents. In the former he raised the question whether, if persons possessing special knowledge and experience of mental diseases were required, it would not be better to obtain, at the beginning, one or more experts from England for the purpose. In the latter he said that the point for discussion was whether Government were bound to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief, and suggested that the time might have come for determining whether the Indian Medical Service should continue to be treated as the sole source of supply for demands that were sure to multiply indefinitely and that were provided for in other countries by resort to an open profession. He then went on to urge the advisability of giving some of the appointments which were reserved for the Indian Medical Service to men selected from the medical profession generally. He observed that such men existed at present in India in limited numbers only, but that that was partly the result of their practical exclusion from all official recognition in connection with public offices. He added that it would be of great benefit to India generally if medical men were to establish themselves in private practice in the country in the same way as they did in other parts of the Empire, without increasing the medical service connected with the army. In his despatch No. 43, dated the 26th April 1901, he repeated several of these arguments, and emphasised the fact that the Indian Medical Service was primarily a military service, and that its first and only indispensable duty was the medical charge of the Indian Army. Lord Curzon's Government, in paragraph 14 of their despatch No. 86, dated the 13th June 1901, expressed their full concurrence in Lord George Hamilton's opinion that it was most undesirable to attempt to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief. They observed that the growth of an independent medical profession in India was a development which they would welcome, and that they would be ill-disposed to recommend any measures which might retard it. On the other hand, they expressed the opinion that the development of such a profession must necessarily be a slow and gradual progress.

3. Throughout the whole of this correspondence the point on which most stress was laid was the impossibility of providing by extensions of the Indian Medical Service for the growing medical needs of the people of the country, as distinguished from the ordinary requirements of the administration. No suggestion was made that medical officers of Indian nationality should be substituted for European medical officers, and in fact Lord George Hamilton appears to have thought that European medical men, if encouraged by the prospect of obtaining Government appointments, could be induced to establish themselves in private practice in India as they have done in other parts of the Empire. We think it necessary to emphasise this point, because the fact that the previous correspondence was not sufficiently referred to or considered in our despatch of the 20th August 1908, or in the letter which we addressed to local Governments after we received Your Lordship's despatch of 11th December 1908, has, we find, given rise to much misunderstanding. Several of the local Governments, in particular the Punjab, have inferred that the main object aimed at was the transfer of a considerable number of appointments, now held by a service mainly European, to medical officers of Indian nationality, even at a serious loss of efficiency. We regret that this misunderstanding should have occurred, as it has obscured the main issues raised, which are (1) how far it is possible for Government to stimulate the growth of an independent medical profession; (2) whether, and, if so, how far the allotment to the Indian Medical Service of the civil posts, which they now hold, operates to discourage the growth of such a profession, and (3) how far the withdrawal of such appointments, so far as practicable and expedient, from that service, would serve to encourage it. The question how far it is possible or expedient to substitute for officers of the Indian Medical Service medical men of Indian nationality or medical men recruited in India, though one which merits our most careful attention, cannot be considered as more than one of the subsidiary points for consideration.

4. In 1908 we pointed out that about one-third of the civil appointments now held by the Indian Medical Service do not form any part of the war reserve, and that consequently there would be no objection, from a military point of view, to their transfer to medical men not belonging to that service. Starting from that premise, we concluded that, subject to certain specified conditions, a considerable number of the appointments not included in the war reserve might gradually be transferred to medical men not belonging to the Indian Medical Service. We had not at that time had the advantage of the opinions of local Governments, and we regret to find that we gravely underestimated the objections, on other grounds than those connected with the requirements of the Indian Army in time of war, to the transfer of appointments which we contemplated. We have now given the whole question our most careful consideration in the light of the opinions of local Governments. We recognise most fully the importance of encouraging the growth of a private medical profession and the impossibility of the Indian Medical Service being expanded so as to meet all the medical needs of India. But we feel bound to recede from the position which we previously took up, because on further consideration of the question we are convinced that the mere transfer of a certain number of Government appointments from the Indian Medical Service to private practitioners would do practically nothing to encourage the growth of an independent profession; that most of the civil appointments now held by the Indian Medical Service could not suitably be given to men not in regular Government service, with whom their private practice would be the first consideration; and that the retention of a considerable number of superior civil medical appointments for the Indian Medical Service is essential, not only in the interests of administrative efficiency, but also for the purpose of making the service itself attractive to able medical men. In short, while we adhere to the views previously expressed, that it is impracticable to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief, we hold strongly that the appointments now held by officers of the Indian Medical Service are required strictly for ordinary administrative duties, which cannot suitably be performed by men otherwise recruited.

5. As indicated above, the most important question which we have to consider is what can be done by Government to encourage the development of an independent medical profession. It has been assumed in previous correspondence that the chief, if not the sole, cause operating against the development of such a profession is the fact that most medical appointments have hitherto been retained for the Indian Medical Service. The letters received from the local Governments prove conclusively that this is not the case. In the first place, it is manifest that before a large supply of medical practitioners qualified according to Western methods can be called into existence, there must be a widespread demand for them. The fact that there is not, at the present time, such a demand is almost entirely due to the circumstance that the mass of the people are still content with the kavirai, hakim, vaid, ojha and the like, who are trained according to indigenous methods, and who exist in very large numbers everywhere. When the mass of the people become dissatisfied with men of this class and require the services of medical men qualified according to Western methods, the supply will readily be forthcoming. The demand already exists in some of the cities and large towns, and will no doubt increase in such places as time goes on, and it will, doubtless, similarly extend in due course to the country districts. The letters of the local Governments show very clearly that what is wanted for the encouragement of the school of allopathic medicine is the gradual conversion of the people to this system, and that the mere transfer of a certain number of appointments from the Indian Medical Service to private practitioners would have no effect in that direction. On the contrary, as the Bombay Government have pointed out, such a measure might have a positively detrimental effect, as it might lead young men to try by various methods to secure Government appointments, instead of settling down to private practice. The withdrawal of Indian Medical Service officers, except with due circumspection, would also operate in another way against the development of an independent medical profession. We would instance the city of Ahmedabad in the Bombay Presidency. There, originally, the civil surgeon had all the allopathic practice, and there were no private practitioners other than the kaviraj and the like, trained according to indigenous methods. At the present time the civil surgeon has scarcely any private practice, almost the whole of his time being devoted to his administrative duties. On the other hand, there are a large number of private allopathic practitioners, and this happy result has been due entirely to the confidence in the allopathic system engendered by successive Indian Medical Service officers. This beneficial process has been going on everywhere in India, and it would be, in our opinion, a fatal mistake to check it by withdrawing the very men who are making allopathic medicine popular.

6. Government can, however, assist the development of an independent profession, and some of the chief ways in which they can do so are—

- (1) By providing, as they do at present, and as they should do in an increasing measure in the future, so far as may be necessary Government colleges and schools for the instruction of qualified practitioners
- (2) By throwing open, as has already been agreed to by the Government of Bengal, the appointments of house physician and house surgeon in the large Presidency Government hospitals to the best students of each year, whether or not they propose to enter Government service
- (3) By encouraging the establishment of medical colleges and schools affiliated to the Universities or to Government medical schools, but conducted by independent medical practitioners. We are already taking steps to this effect in Calcutta and Bombay. It is well known that the Government colleges and schools cannot provide for more than a fraction of those who apply for admission. There is therefore ample room for well-equipped and adequately staffed unofficial colleges and schools. The professorships at such colleges and schools, if established, would afford the experience which can be derived from practice in hospitals, which is so important, and which we wish to see extended.
- (4) By demonstrating, as they do at present, and as they should do in an ever-increasing measure in the future, both through the agency of their own officers and through that of the various local authorities, the advantages of Western methods in hospitals and dispensaries
- (5) By associating selected private practitioners with the staff of Government hospitals, as honorary physicians and surgeons, and by allowing them facilities for consultations at Government hospitals and the use of the operating theatre, as has already been done in some instances in Bombay, the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. We regard this as a most important measure. It will not enable us to make any reduction in the number of the Indian Medical Service officers at present at the hospitals, but we hope that it may operate to prevent a further increase of such officers

We have also under our consideration another important question, referred to by the Punjab Government and the Central Provinces Administration, namely, whether anything can be done to stop, or at any rate to lessen, the abuse of charitable hospitals and dispensaries and the unfair competition caused to private practitioners by allowing free attendance and free medicine to well-to-do persons. We have consulted the local Governments on this subject, and propose to examine it carefully when we receive their replies.

7. A further most far-reaching step which Government can take towards assisting the development of an independent medical profession is by making provision for the registration of medical practitioners qualified to practise according to Western methods. This question has attracted attention in this country for many years, but hitherto nothing effectual has been done because too much has been attempted or proposed. The difficulties connected with the subject have undoubtedly been great, owing to the fact that the mass of the people still prefer to patronise the kamraj and other practitioners trained according to indigenous methods. Any measure which purported to confer benefits on medical practitioners, qualified according to Western methods, and consequently the rivals of the kamraj and the like, was bound to provoke opposition. It was, therefore, necessary to wait until the former class had become considerable both in point of numbers and influence before action could profitably be taken. The Government of Bombay have now proposed to enact a local Registration Act and to provide for the creation of a medical council. They propose to secure their object as far as possible in the first place by the grant of privileges to qualified practitioners, rather than by the infliction of penalties upon unqualified persons. When a register of qualified practitioners has been framed, the fact of being a registered practitioner will in itself be a qualification, unqualified practitioners will be sufficiently marked out by the fact that they are not registered, and registered practitioners will take care to make the most of the fact. The registered practitioners, backed by the medical council, will, in course of time, become a powerful body capable of making their influence felt; and then it will be easy, if it is thought desirable to do so, to make the provisions of the law more stringent. The Government of Bengal, which also desires to legislate on the subject, have been advised to frame their Bill on similar lines.

8. We have already authorised local Governments to empower properly qualified medical practitioners to sign medical certificates regarding non-gazetted Government servants without requiring that the certificates should be countersigned by a Government medical officer, the old rule in the Civil Service Regulations having tended to divert to Government medical officers practice which might otherwise have gone to private practitioners.

9. Having explained what appear to us to be the chief practical means of developing an independent medical profession, we will now deal with two of the further questions referred to in paragraph 3 of this despatch, viz. :—

- (1) whether, and, if so, how far, the allotment to the Indian Medical Service of civil posts, which they now hold, operates to discourage the growth of an independent medical profession;
- (2) how far the withdrawal of such appointments, so far as practicable and expedient, from that service, would serve to encourage it.

10. As regards these questions, we cite some of the views expressed by the local Governments. The Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, writes—“This cry, that the existence of the Indian Medical Service and of the salaried medical services of Government subordinate to it, is militating against the creation of an independent medical profession, is a specious one which will not bear close examination. So far as the Indian agency employed is concerned, the change suggested merely substitutes one set of men for another set of men, a set of men engaged by temporary contract for particular posts for a set of men engaged by permanent contract for a particular service, men without discipline for men under discipline, men who cannot be replaced by transfer if inefficient or guilty of misconduct, for men who can be replaced. There is involved, therefore, a very serious loss of efficiency, there is no addition to the medical practitioners of the country, and no increase in the number of patients treated. As regards the Indian Medical Service, if the civil portion of this service were replaced by Indian doctors, there would again be no net increase in medical practitioners nor in patients treated. There would, in the Central Provinces and Berar, be some 10 or 12 appointments held by Indians which are now held by Europeans, but the objections already urged are so formidable as to make such a step unthinkable. The cry for an independent medical profession therefore resolves itself into the familiar cry for appointments under Government and for the substitution of Indian for European agency." Again he writes—"In a single sentence, what the budding Indian medical profession is really asking for is salaries; what it really requires for its proper establishment and expansion is not salaries but patients; and patients, if it is worth anything, it will obtain for itself out of India's untreated millions." The Government of the Punjab have made certain proposals for giving up certain appointments, against the wishes of their officers and their own judgment, in the belief that it is the settled policy of Government that this should be done. The letter of the local Government adds, however—"But Sir Louis Dane does not disguise from himself the fact that the course which he is thus prepared to adopt for the purpose of promoting the more extensive employment of Indians in the medical service cannot be described as a step in the direction of fostering a profession of private medical practitioners." The Government of Bengal write—"Once an officer has accepted an appointment under Government he necessarily ceases to be independent, and the work which he undertakes on behalf of Government will occupy the greater portion of his time, that is to say, he will be a Government servant first and only secondarily a private practitioner." The Government of the United Provinces observe—"That it is desirable to encourage the growth of such a profession (an independent medical profession) is an opinion which is strongly held by the Lieutenant-Governor. He fully agrees in this respect with the view of the Secretary of State and of the Government of India. But he does not consider that the growth can be fostered by petty changes in the system of Government service. The establishment of such a profession is impossible without the existence of a demand for it." And again—"If any independent practitioner accepted Government service he would either cease to be independent or he would be useless as a Government officer." And further:—"There are only 46 such officers (Indian Medical Service officers) in a province containing 47½ millions of people in which there are always on duty about 190 Indian civil servants, 85 police officers recruited in England and 60 or more officers of the Public Works Department similarly recruited. His Honour recognises that the main strength of this argument lies in the acceptance of the fact that the administrative duties which the Indian Medical Service officer has to perform are of an importance equal to that of the duties of officers of the other departments named. He himself has no doubt that this is the case. He does not consider it necessary to elaborate the argument that among 47½ millions of people a staff of 46 Indian Medical Service officers is the lowest that could be entertained. A body of highly qualified men of at least this number could always be fully employed (apart from the necessity of entertaining them for the purposes of the Government itself) as consultants in the practice of assistant surgeons and the existing private practitioners." The Government of Bombay are of the same opinion, and, in connection with the memorial referred to in paragraphs 27 and 28 of this despatch of Sir Bhalchandra Krishna urging that more appointments should be given to private medical practitioners they say—"The acceptance of the proposals contained in the memorial would, in the opinion of the Governor in Council, result in the creation of a Government medical service wholly recruited in India and this would in no way further the object in view, which is to foster the growth of an independent medical profession apart from Government service."

11. We fully agree with the local Governments, whose remarks we have quoted above, that the giving of a few appointments here and there which are now held by the Indian Medical Service to men not belonging to that service would not have any appreciable effect on the development of an independent medical profession. It is necessary, we think, to lay particular stress on this point, because once it is admitted, it follows that, throughout the remainder of the discussion of the proposed withdrawal of appointments from the Indian Medical Service, the question is not one of encouraging the growth of an independent medical profession, but that referred to at the close of paragraph 3 of this despatch, viz., the question of substituting, so far as expedient and practicable, for officers of the Indian Medical Service medical men of Indian nationality or medical men recruited in India. The distinction between these two quite separate questions was not, we consider, sufficiently brought out in our previous despatch. We will now proceed to consider how far it is expedient and practicable to give effect to such a policy.

12. In this connection the first point which we think it desirable to emphasise is the importance of not doing anything which would lower the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service. As Your Lordship is aware, of the total number of officers of that service in civil employ, two-thirds represent the war reserve, which cannot in any circumstances be encroached upon, while the remaining one-third are officers who are employed solely on civil duties. Although we stated in our despatch of the 20th August 1908 that there would be no objection, from a military point of view, to the transfer to independent practitioners of all the civil appointments held by that one-third it is obvious that, if all or a large number of these appointments were to be given away to private medical practitioners, the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service would be greatly diminished. We admitted in that despatch that this danger existed, but we were inclined to think that as the process would be gradual, and as, by the time that a large number of local candidates was forthcoming, it was possible that the number of medical schools and professorial chairs would have increased, there would be no difficulty in retaining for the Indian Medical Service a proportion of prize appointments sufficient to maintain its attractiveness. There is ample evidence, however, that the publication of our despatch, together with Lord Morley's despatches of the 9th August 1907 and the 11th December 1908, has already given rise to wide-spread uneasiness in professional circles. We have examined the British Medical Journal, the Lancet and the Indian Medical Gazette and we cite below the gist of some of the more important articles on this subject. An article of the 15th May 1909 in the British Medical Journal stated that the despatch of the Secretary of State had produced a feeling of serious apprehension among the officers of the Indian Medical Service, and a further article, published on the 22nd May 1909, observed that, if the civil list of the Indian Medical Service were reduced, the result would be that instead of nearly two-thirds of the service being able to look forward to the professional opportunities in civil life which practically all enter in the expectation of attaining within three or four years of reaching India, only a minority would be able to obtain civil work, and that only after a number of years in military employ. The article expressed the hope that the present uncertainty as to the future of this famous service would soon be settled in such a manner as fully to maintain its prospects and traditions, as otherwise the standard of entries would inevitably deteriorate rapidly. On the 4th September 1909 an article appeared in the same journal pointing out that the prospects of the Royal Army Medical Corps had materially improved in recent years, and that this was another reason for circumspection as regards curtailing the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service. The Lancet, in an article of the 10th July 1909, expressed the opinion that the proposals of the Government of India and the Secretary of State would affect the Indian Medical Service injuriously. Again, on the 20th August 1909, an article in the same journal pointed out that there was less competition now than formerly for the various medical services, that this was the more unfortunate, inasmuch as fewer men were now entering the medical profession as a whole in England, and that it was undesirable that the attractions of the medical services should be reduced, as those of the Indian Medical Service would inevitably be, if the proposals in the published despatches were carried out. The Indian Medical Gazette had two articles (in January and August 1909) on similar lines. We would remark, in addition to what is stated in the articles above cited, that it is well known that, owing to the advance already made by Indian private practitioners, particularly in the cities and large towns of India, the private practice of members of the Indian Medical Service is considerably less than it was years ago. While this is most satisfactory as evidence of the progress made by the independent medical profession of this country, it seems to us a further reason for not adding unnecessarily to the growing difficulties of recruiting for the Indian Medical Service.

13. Lord Morley referred in his despatch of the 11th December 1908 to difficulties in the matter of recruitment if further increases to the Indian Medical Service were allowed. We submit, however, that it is, on the other hand, necessary to take into account the fact that recruitment must be affected by proposals which tend to make the Indian Medical Service less attractive. Statistics of the examinations for the last five years show that there have been hardly more than two qualified candidates for each vacancy and that on one occasion (February 1907) there were only 25 candidates for 23 vacancies. We have no statistics for years immediately preceding 1904, but we are informed that in previous years the proportion was very much larger. We have also been informed by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, that the general standard of the candidates for the January 1910 examination was below the average, and that the results were still worse at the examination of July 1910.

14. We will now discuss the difficulties which have been pointed out by local Governments as regards giving effect to the proposed policy. In the first place local Governments make it clear that civil surgeoncies, which form the bulk of the appointments held by Indian Medical Service officers, cannot possibly be held by private practitioners. We recognised, in paragraph 7 of our despatch of the 20th August 1908, that difficulties might arise in connection with giving such appointments to locally recruited men, on account of the multiplicity of gratuitous services which are demanded of civil surgeons, and that patients entitled to such services might complain of neglect. We hoped, however, that these difficulties would not be insuperable and would tend to diminish with the increase in the number of practitioners who were qualified to hold such appointments and were anxious to hold them. We are constrained to abandon this opinion, as the reports of the local Governments make it clear that the proposal is impracticable. For instance, the Government of Bombay say —

“The question of appointing private practitioners to hold charge of mofussil civil surgeoncies is one of great importance. The difficulties of carrying on the duties of a civil surgeoncy with a man in charge who is entirely independent of Government seem to be insuperable. The civil surgeon is not only entrusted with the medical care of Government servants and their families, but he is also the final medical and surgical authority in a district containing often a million or more of souls, the administrator of a hospital, a jail and several dispensaries, the sanitary adviser of a municipality, the professional adviser of the civil servants and most of their families, the Government medical referee in the enrolment of the subordinate civil servants and police, and on questions relating to sick leave and retirements on pension caused by ill-health, and last, but by no means least, he is the final and expert adviser of the Crown on all matters pertaining to homicide, suicide, rape, infanticide, grievous hurt and all other medico-legal work of the gravest and most responsible character. It appears impossible for Government to exercise the necessary control over any private practitioner, and it is certain that, if he has any practice of his own, the interests of Government will be sacrificed to it. The ordinary duties of a civil surgeon, if efficiently performed, are of themselves sufficient to occupy nearly all his time, and most civil surgeons have little leisure to devote to private work. It cannot therefore be supposed that a private practitioner, with even a fairly large practice of his own, can possibly give that time to Government work which is necessary.”

The other Governments are equally emphatic. Their letters show that the civil surgeon is the right-hand man of Government in respect of medical matters, and that his appointment is an administrative post which can only be held by a whole-time servant of Government. Of the many important duties of the civil surgeon, medico-legal work alone would require that he should be a whole-time officer. Jail work is also of a great importance, and combined as it is at every point with medical work, must be performed by a Government servant. It is not work which a private practitioner would ever care to take up. The proposal referred to in our despatch of August 1908, to break up the service of civil assistant surgeons and to make over such appointments to private medical practitioners has since been found to be entirely impracticable, and, for the reasons given in our despatch of the 26th May 1910, we have abandoned it definitely. The Government of Burma has indeed appointed a private practitioner as civil surgeon in the Tharawaddy district, which is close to Rangoon, but the difficulties which they have experienced in obtaining a suitable man have served to illustrate the much greater difficulties which would occur if any attempt were made to employ private practitioners as civil surgeons in up-country stations. The work of civil surgeons, like that of civil assistant surgeons, is chiefly of an administrative character, and it is not the class of work which men who look chiefly to private practice can be expected either to do well or to be anxious to do at all. We have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the proposal to appoint Indian private practitioners as civil surgeons is, generally speaking, impracticable and that it should be abandoned.

15. Nor is it practicable to recruit locally, save in exceptional cases, European medical men suitable for civil surgeoncies. Lord George Hamilton, in urging that it would be "a great benefit to India generally that medical men should establish themselves in private practice in the country in the same way as they do in other parts of the Empire without entering the medical service connected with the army," seems to have had in mind the conditions which obtain in Great Britain and in the Colonies, where the population is of European race or birth. As a matter of fact, European doctors can never be expected to establish themselves in this country outside the largest towns, save in exceptional areas, such as Assam, where there is a considerable European population, and the appointment of such men to civil surgeoncies in those exceptional places would seem to be a matter of very doubtful advantage. It would merely mean the recruitment here and there of an individual man, who would have to be replaced by his employers by another recruit from England. It would be of no practical advantage to Government and would in most cases cause considerable inconvenience to the employers who had brought the men out from England. Similarly, a European who had settled in a city or large town might, here and there, be willing to enter the service of Government, but it is by no means clear that such an arrangement would be of advantage to Government.

16. We agree with the local Governments that the only practical method of recruiting civil surgeons locally is to promote selected civil assistant surgeons to such posts as far as is practicable. This is, we consider, a perfectly legitimate and proper way of rewarding merit in men who have succeeded in their profession and who have been trained to administrative work. Civil assistant surgeons are, for the most part, men with qualifications superior to those of the ordinary private medical practitioner, with the exception of the pick of those engaged in practice in the cities and large towns. We think it desirable to lay stress on this point. Lord Morley's recent despatch on the subject of the Chair of Anatomy at Calcutta seems rather to suggest that he regarded the civil assistant surgeon as being inferior to the ordinary Indian independent practitioner, whereas, as a matter of fact, the reverse is the case. The civil assistant surgeon—unlike the military assistant surgeon, who is a warrant officer trained at Government expense in a Government medical college, and given a college certificate to enable him to work in Government employ and as a general practitioner—begins his career as a private medical student, pays for his own education, and must, previous to his entry into Government employ, have obtained either the M.B. degree or the license (L.M.S.) of a recognised Indian University. Many civil assistant surgeons are extremely distinguished men, and a considerable number of them have European qualifications. These men would naturally object strongly to being considered inferior, as candidates for Government posts to the ordinary practitioner who has neither their knowledge nor experience. It is to these men that any appointments which may be withdrawn from Indian Medical Service officers should, in our opinion, be given and it will cause great discontent and will lower the standard of efficiency if they are not given the preference which they deserve. A certain number of civil surgeoncies is already reserved for civil assistant surgeons, and it is possible that a few more may from time to time, without objection, be made over to them.

17. There is, however, a very decided and sharp line which indicates the limit of employment of these men in the posts referred to, and that is the obligation which rests upon Government to provide medical aid to their European officers in the various services. This matter, which is not referred to in our recent correspondence with your predecessor, is very clearly set forth in the replies of local Governments. Although it is nowhere laid down that European officers are entitled to attendance by European medical officers, it is perfectly natural that they should wish to be treated by such officers, just as it is natural that persons of other nationalities should wish to be treated by medical men of their own race. This is a matter of special importance in a country like India, where Europeans are living under what are, climatically, very trying conditions. Still more important is it that European officers should know that they can, without unreasonable expense, procure the services of European medical officers for their families. Anything which would spread a belief that Government were careless of the interests of their European officers in this respect would, we are convinced, have a very adverse effect upon the recruitment of the European services in general. Nothing ought to be done, therefore, which would lead to such a reduction of European civil surgeons as would have the disastrous result referred to, and we would deprecate with the strongest emphasis such a proposal as that made by the Punjab Government, against the wishes of their own officers and against their own judgment, but in deference to what they thought were the wishes of higher authorities, to give up to civil assistant surgeons such a number of civil surgeoncies as would lead to the unfortunate result alluded to. In this connection we would invite Your Lordship's attention to the memorials from Government officers forwarded with our despatch of the 24th February 1910. We support those memorials strongly, and do not propose to take the action suggested by the Punjab Government.

18. We now turn to the case of civil appointments, other than civil surgeoncies, usually held by officers of the Indian Medical Service. These are posts held by high administrative medical officers (such as, the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, surgeons-general and inspectors-general of civil hospitals) inspectors-general of jails, sanitary commissioners, deputy sanitary commissioners, professors, chemical analysers and officers assigned to other special posts. It is, we think, obvious that the chief administrative officers of Government in the medical, sanitary and, in some cases the jail, departments should belong to that service. It is also necessary that the Government medical colleges and schools, which not only train the medical subordinates, civil and military, whom Government require for their own immediate work, but which afford at present the only opportunities for satisfactory medical instruction available in India, should be manned to a considerable extent, by officers of that service in order that discipline and a high standard of efficiency may be maintained. There would be no objection, however, provided that fully qualified local candidates were forthcoming, and subject to the limitations indicated in this despatch, in giving some of the professional appointments to such persons. It should, however, be understood that any such candidates must be fully qualified, and that the claims of civil assistant surgeons would receive adequate consideration. For the men who complain most that they cannot obtain Government appointments are not generally speaking, the successful private practitioners, whose practice is far too good to allow of their taking up Government work, but men who cannot make a sufficient living for themselves.

19. We are of opinion, therefore that when locally recruited medical men are required for appointments which are, or which have been in the past, held by officers of the Indian Medical Service, they should ordinarily be taken from the ranks of the civil assistant surgeons. We would recruit from amongst private medical practitioners, European and Indian, resident in India, only in exceptional cases, and in such cases would appoint them, not as members of a service but on special terms and for a specific period: as we have already done in the case of Maung Aung Tun, House Surgeon of the General Hospital Rangoon, and of Mr. Bentley, who has been employed on special investigations in Eastern Bengal and in Bombay. When European medical men are required from England we are convinced that it is both expedient and in the long run economical to recruit them in the Indian Medical Service. To recruit in England a small number of men for isolated posts would give rise to administrative difficulties. To recruit a large number of them would practically mean the formation of a second European medical service, which would, as stated in paragraph 6 of our despatch of the 20th August 1908, doubtless put forward claims to be treated precisely in the same way as the Indian Medical Service. Further, the recruitment of Europeans for particular posts, such as those of the Bacteriological department, would probably result in our having to engage, on special rates of pay, precisely the same men who, if existing arrangements are maintained, would come into the Indian Medical Service in order to spend their lives on research and who would be content with lower rates of pay as members of the service than they would demand if they were especially recruited for isolated posts

20. Before leaving this question, we would invite Your Lordship's attention to Chapter VIII (pages 129-136) of the Report of the Decentralization Commission. The Commission considered the question of the civil medical department and discussed the proposals, made by the Government of Madras in 1899, but not accepted by the Government of India, for a completely separate cadre of Indian Medical Service officers for duty in that Presidency, and the proposal made in 1903 by the Government of Bombay for a separate civil medical service. The Commission was, however, of opinion that any such proposals would revolutionise the character of the Indian Medical Service and might lead to serious difficulties in recruitment, and would not, even if the members of such a service were given preliminary training, with Indian troops, adequately provide for military requirements. The Commission had not before it the particular proposal now under discussion, viz., that that portion of the civil cadre, which must, in the event of war, be retained for civil purposes, should be recruited, as far as possible, locally, but it is clear that it was impressed by the general advantages of the present system.

21. Finally, we give some statistics to illustrate the impracticability of making any reduction in the number of Indian Medical Service officers employed solely on civil duties, that is to say, those not belonging to the war reserve. Excluding eleven officers in the Bacteriological department, who do not hold cadre posts, three officers in the Assay department, to which we have decided to make no further permanent appointments from the Indian Medical Service, the Surgeon Naturalist and the whole of the civil leave reserves, there are at present 114 Indian Medical Service civil cadre appointments not included in the war reserve. Of these appointments, 98 are under local Governments, 10 under the Foreign Department, and 6, including the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, and our Sanitary Commissioner, under the Home Department. Of the 98 posts under local Governments, 29 are held by administrative medical officers, sanitary commissioners, inspectors-general of prisons and chemical analysers, 16 by professors at Government medical colleges, and 53 by civil surgeons, jail superintendents and the like. We have already referred to the posts held by administrative medical officers and heads of departments and to the professorial and other special posts. As for the remaining 53 appointments under local Governments, we would point out that, in the event of a mobilisation of the whole army, not only the war reserve of the Indian Medical Service, but all military assistant surgeons would be withdrawn, and each of the local Governments would be left with only 7 or 8 Indian Medical Service officers, in addition to heads of departments and a few officers holding special posts, to conduct the ordinary civil medical administration, to hold charge of the larger jails and to cope with epidemic disease. Local Governments would, no doubt, be able to increase their medical staff by re-employing pensioned civil assistant surgeons and sub-assistant surgeons, and they might succeed in securing the services of a few private practitioners. But we are strongly of opinion that the margin of European medical officers, which would be left at the disposal of local Governments in the event of the mobilisation of the army, would be the minimum which would be compatible with safety.

22. We sum up our conclusions as follows —

- (1) An independent medical profession trained on Western lines is steadily growing up in India, but it has yet to overcome its universal rival in the form of the k miraj, lakim, vaid, ojha and the like, who are trained according to indigenous methods and in whom the mass of the population still trust.
- (2) Government can do much to encourage an independent medical profession in the various ways enumerated in this despatch.
- (3) The giving up of a few appointments to private medical practitioners will have no appreciable effect on the development of an independent medical profession, and might, on the contrary, tend to hinder a healthy development.

- (4) The present policy of reduction, which was inaugurated without previous reference to the local Governments, has already given rise to considerable uneasiness in professional circles, and, if carried further, is likely to cause a decided deterioration in the Indian Medical Service.
- (5) The bulk of the civil surgeoncies must be manned by officers of the Indian Medical Service, exceptions being made in favour of civil assistant surgeons.
- (6) The Government medical colleges and schools must, in the main, be manned by officers of the Indian Medical Service, but a few professorial posts can be made available to locally-recruited men
- (7) European medical men cannot be expected to establish themselves in this country, except in cities and large towns and in special areas where there is a large European population, and it is, generally speaking, undesirable to recruit from among them
- (8) When European medical men are required, they should usually be recruited in the Indian Medical Service. Indians and Europeans recruited locally in special cases should be employed on special terms.

23. We now turn to the specific orders passed in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, that there is to be no further increase in the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service and further that we should endeavour to reduce the present strength. We have considered that decision with special reference to the question as to how many of the superior medical appointments in India can safely be made over to men recruited in India. The Public Service Commission of 1887 discussed a similar question in regard to the Indian Civil Service, and it was decided that the officers recruited to that service should form a corps d'élite, a certain proportion of superior posts not assigned to that service being made available for the Provincial Civil Service. The proportion of superior posts so made available was 16.6 per cent. Similar principles have been applied to the recruitment of other services. In the Public Works Department, out of 434 superior posts, namely those of executive engineers, superintending engineers and chief engineers, 73 or 17 per cent, are reserved for the Provincial, and the remainder for the Imperial, service. In the Forest service, it is proposed to divide the higher forest appointments into major and minor charges, and to allot to men recruited in India 20 per cent of the major posts. As regards the superior medical service, the question has never been raised, owing to the necessity of providing for the employment in times of peace in civil work of the war reserve of the Indian Medical Service. We find that, excluding plague and Bacteriological appointments and appointments in the Assay department, to which department, as has already been stated, it is proposed that medical officers should not be appointed in future, the total number of superior medical appointments actually in existence or which it is proposed to create in the immediate future, is 464. Of these 354 are actually held by officers of the Indian Medical Service in the civil cadre (240 by officers belonging to the war reserve, and 114 by officers in civil employ outside the war reserve), while 110 are held by, or are open to, medical men recruited in India. Of these 110 posts 35 are held, or are to be held, by civil assistant surgeons, 55 by military assistant surgeons, 10 by uncovenanted medical officers (of whom no more are being recruited) or by private practitioners; while the balance of 10 has not yet been assigned, but may be given either to civil assistant surgeons or private practitioners. The military assistant surgeons are Europeans or Eurasians but they all receive their medical education in India, and must, therefore, be classed as indigenous practitioners. The proportion of posts at present available for men recruited locally is, therefore, 23.7 per cent. It is, we consider, a very reasonable proportion and it compares very favourably with the percentages fixed in respect of other services.

24. The existing orders place us in a position of considerable difficulty. When a new appointment is proposed and we are convinced, after considering the possibility of providing for it otherwise, that it cannot be filled satisfactorily at the moment except by an officer of the Indian Medical Service, we cannot give effect to this decision without calling on some local Government to resign a civil surgeoncy held by an officer of the Indian Medical Service and to appoint in his place an assistant surgeon or a private practitioner. For example, the increase in the staff of the Rangoon General Hospital recently sanctioned by Lord Morley led to a reduction of the number of Indian Medical Service civil surgeons in a province in which, as is shown convincingly in the Government of Burma's letter No. 1521, dated the 30th June 1909, the number of civil surgeons belonging to that service is already inadequate. To take another instance, we have recently, in accordance with the recommendations of the Conference on Malaria which met at Simla last year, placed a specially qualified officer of the Indian Medical Service on deputation to investigate endemic malaria in particular areas. Under the orders contained in Lord Morley's Military despatch No. 4, dated the 21st January 1910 we are permitted to second this officer, as his deputation is expected to last for more than a year, but, if we do so, we must ask some local Government to surrender an Indian Medical Service civil surgeon temporarily. We would urge strongly that the orders in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, and in that just referred to should be withdrawn. The object aimed at should not be, we think merely the negative object of limiting or reducing the number of civil appointments held by the Indian Medical Service. We propose, as we have said already, to do all in our power to further the growth of an independent medical profession, and we propose also, as fully qualified candidates become available, and so far as considerations of efficiency and the legitimate claims of European servants of Government residing in the interior of the country will admit, to increase the number of superior medical appointments open to men recruited in India. But we are convinced, on the grounds urged in this despatch, that it is disastrous that the creation of an appointment of undoubted utility, whether permanent or temporary, for which at the moment no really qualified candidates are available in India outside the Indian Medical Service, should involve as at present the reduction of another Indian Medical Service appointment, usually a civil surgeoncy in a remote station. We propose, therefore, that, in lieu of the arrangements rendered necessary according to the orders at present in force, which we have found to be most detrimental, the case of each new appointment should be considered on its merits, and that, if we are convinced that in existing circumstances it can only be filled from the Indian Medical Service, and if we succeed in satisfying Your Lordship that this is the case, no reduction of an Indian Medical Service appointment should be made when the new appointment is created. We should apply the same rule to temporary appointments and deputations, but we would ask that we may be allowed to sanction temporary appointments and deputations of Indian Medical Service officers without corresponding reductions in the cadre, without reference to Your Lordship or, at least, without your previous sanction.

25. We would also ask Your Lordship to reconsider, in the light of the above remarks, and of those contained in paragraph 19 of this despatch, the decision given in Lord Morley's despatch No. 134 (Revenue), dated the 13th November 1908, rejecting our proposal that, when sanctioned appointments in the Bacteriological Department are held by Indian Medical Service officers, they should be treated for the time being as cadre appointments of that service. We have no desire to reserve these special appointments for the Indian Medical Service, and we would welcome the opportunity of allotting them to natives of India if there were any who were fully qualified for them. The success of the department, however, and the benefits which its work can confer on the country, depend entirely on the class of men whom we can recruit. The man appointed to investigate the etiology of disease must not only have had a very complete general scientific training, but must possess powers of observation, initiation, industry and enthusiasm. So far we have not been able to find, among the Indian assistants employed in the department or among candidates in this country for Government posts, this special aptitude in a degree sufficient to warrant their employment on an independent or semi-independent investigation. We could no doubt recruit men in England for the department on special terms. But to do so, would, as we have already indicated, almost certainly be more expensive and would undoubtedly be less convenient. While bacteriological appointments are actually held by Indian Medical Service officers, we think that it is only reasonable that they should be treated, for the time being, as cadre appointments, for the purpose of calculating the usual leave reserve for the Indian Medical Service. We trust, therefore, that Your Lordship will now be able to sanction the proposal made in our Finance Department despatch No. 211 of the 23rd July 1908.

26. We desire to assure Your Lordship that we have made the proposals contained in this despatch only after the most careful and protracted consideration. We are convinced that if the orders in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, restricting the Indian Medical Service civil cadre to its present strength, continue in force, and still more if any reduction of that cadre is insisted on, the attractiveness of the service will be greatly diminished, the efficiency of the medical and sanitary administration of the country will be gravely impaired, the substitution of inferior for superior men will retard, instead of accelerating, the spread of Western medicine in India, and a grave amount of discontent, which could not fail to affect recruitment, will be provoked among all the Indian services which are recruited in England. We would also reiterate what we stated in paragraph 4 of this despatch, that the appointments now held by officers of the Indian Medical Service are required strictly for the ordinary administrative duties of the country in respect of medical relief, which cannot suitably be performed by men otherwise recruited.

27. Before we conclude this despatch we must invite Your Lordship's attention to the memorial from Sir Bhalchandra Krishna, herewith forwarded, which we held over until we could include our observations on it in a discussion of the whole question. We fully concur with the view expressed by the Bombay Government that acceptance of the proposals contained in the memorial would result in the creation of a Government Medical Service wholly recruited in India, and that this would in no way further the growth of an independent medical profession. The memorial, which, we may observe, overlooks the fact that Indians are admitted to the Indian Medical Service, is based, we consider, on a misconception. It is in no way unreasonable that Government medical colleges and schools should, in the main, be officered by whole-time Government servants, especially when, as in the case of the Grant Medical College, Bombay, military assistant surgeons (Europeans and Eurasians) are trained in the college for service with the army. As we have already explained, we are willing that, subject to certain specified conditions, fully qualified Indians should be appointed to a certain proportion of the professorships in Government institutions. What, however, the independent medical profession ought to aim at chiefly is not to secure appointments in Government institutions, but as is indicated by the Bombay Government, and as we have already suggested to the Government of Bengal, to establish their own medical colleges and schools affiliated to the University or to Government medical schools and competing in healthy rivalry with the Government institutions. In such institutions there would be ample scope for local talent.

28. The complaint made in the memorial regarding the combination of professorships at the Grant Medical College is adequately answered in the letter of the Bombay Government and in the analysis forwarded with that letter. Apart from the regular combination of major and minor chairs, which is an economical arrangement, such combinations lasted only for a comparatively brief period in each case, and the arrangements were made as a matter of administrative convenience. The complaint made in the memorial that the military head of the service claims a share in the control of the Grant Medical College and the Jnaneswar Hospital seems to us particularly unreasonable. The control exercised by the Director of Public Instruction is an anomaly dating from a time when that officer was supposed to control every kind of education. In our opinion the Director of Public Instruction should have nothing to do with medical institutions, and the military head of the service, namely, the Surgeon-General, should have sole control. We are unable to support the prayers made in the memorial with the exception of the last, which relates to civil assistant surgeons. The position of these officers and the possibility of assigning to them a larger share of superior appointments have been discussed elsewhere in this despatch.

No. 213

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL

MY LORD.

I have carefully considered in Council your predecessor's despatch in the Home Department, No 21, dated 17th November 1910, regarding the unofficial medical profession in India, and the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service.

Question of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service

2. I may say at once that after a full examination of the despatch and its enclosures I accept the view of your Government that the question of the steps to be taken to promote the growth of the unofficial medical profession must be treated as distinct from the question of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service, and that I am in general agreement with your Government on both questions. For this reason, instead of following in detail your predecessor's examination of the recent discussions in which these two questions have been considered in relation to one another, I propose to state, without direct reference to the previous correspondence, the conclusions to which I have been led by my own examination of the question.

3. In the first place, I am much impressed with the military considerations involved. The efficiency of the Army in the event of mobilization requires that a War Reserve amounting to at least two-thirds of the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service should be available at short notice, and no more economical method of providing this War Reserve than the existing one has yet been discovered. There is also a large proportion of civil posts, including the highest administrative appointments, amounting to hardly less than one-third of the whole cadre, which it would be most unwise in time of stress to entrust to others than members of a trained and disciplined service. It is also, I believe, generally admitted that the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service to young doctors is largely dependent on the number and character of the civil posts, and to diminish this number materially or to withdraw even a comparatively small proportion of the higher posts hitherto included in the cadre could not fail to have an unfavourable effect upon recruitment, and consequently upon the efficiency of the whole service, both on the civil and on the military side. Furthermore, in the interests of the Western system of medicine generally, including those of the unofficial medical practitioners themselves, it is desirable, at least, for the present, to maintain a system by which in every part of the country demonstrations of its practical value will be continuously afforded by medical officers of undoubtedly good qualifications. Moreover, it is impossible to disregard the special needs of European officers and their families. I am thus unable, under existing conditions, to contemplate any substantial reduction of the service.

4. I have read with interest and satisfaction that portion of Lord Minto's despatch (paragraphs 6—8) in which he indicated a variety of methods by which Government can assist and in some cases are already assisting, the development of the unofficial medical profession. Perhaps the chief of these is the making provision for the registration of medical practitioners qualified to practise according to the Western methods. The Government of Bombay have taken the first step in this direction by passing a Registration Act, and I trust that, before long, experience of its working may justify the introduction of similar legislation for other provinces. I may here observe that in my opinion the value of such legislation will to a great extent depend on the maintenance of some fixed minimum standard of attainment for all medical men.

5. I observe, however, that while your Government have come to the conclusion in which I agree, that the constitution of the Indian Medical Service must remain for the present at least substantially unchanged, you, at the same time, indicate certain directions in which it may be possible and desirable to continue the policy of increasing, so far as is permitted by considerations of efficiency, and the reasonable claims of European servants of Government residing in the interior of the country, the number of superior medical appointments open to men recruited in India. I welcome, as did my predecessor, every opportunity of taking a step, however small, in furtherance of this policy. Your despatch mentions that some more professional appointments might be filled by local candidates provided they are fully qualified, and that it is possible that a few more civil surgeoncies may, without objection, from time to time, be handed over to Civil Assistant Surgeons. In this connection it is to be remembered that a Royal Commission on the Public Services has been appointed, and that it would be undesirable to make any large change of the kind until the Commission has reported; in the meantime, proposals affecting individual appointments can of course be considered on their merits.

6. I also accept the view of Lord Minto's Government that there is ordinarily no advantage in recruiting a medical man from the United Kingdom, otherwise than through the Indian Medical Service. But I am not prepared to say that this course should never be adopted. Circumstances have arisen in the past in which there was immediate need for men of special experience who were not available in India either from the Indian Medical Service or otherwise, and I know of no reason to suppose that a case of the kind will never occur again. Such a case must be dealt with on its merits, and if a man has to be recruited specially from the United Kingdom for a particular post a special contract should be made with him, the terms of which in each case will require the closest scrutiny.

7. The present appears to me to be a suitable opportunity for considering the case of the Military Assistant Surgeons employed as Civil Surgeons. It is necessary to have a reserve of Military Assistant Surgeons; and, as with the Indian Medical Service, it is convenient and economical to employ this reserve in civil duties. Their professional efficiency is also advanced by this means. These men, however, are not recruited with reference to any qualifications for the important duties of a Civil Surgeon, and they are as a rule, unsuitable for the work. It may therefore be desirable that as far as possible civil surgeoncies not reserved for the Indian Medical Service should be given to Civil Assistant Surgeons. I leave it to your Government to consider whether effect can usefully be given to this suggestion.

8. I pass now to the request of Lord Minto's Government that the existing orders under which there can be no further increase in the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service may be withdrawn, that in future the case of each new appointment may be considered on its merits, and that if I am satisfied that in existing circumstances it can only be filled from the Indian Medical Service, no reduction of another Indian Medical Service appointment may be made when the new appointment is created. The orders in question were based on the belief that the development of the unofficial medical profession would be aided by leaving as many Government appointments as possible to private practitioners whether recruited in India or in England. As I have already said, I am persuaded that this view is not supported by the recent investigations. But I still consider that the Indian Medical Service should be restricted to the military needs of the country, and this for two reasons, first, the necessity for economy, and secondly, the desirability of increasing, as far as may be, the number of important posts held by Indians. Whether any important step can be taken towards attaining this latter object is a question with which it will be easier to deal effectively after the Public Service Commission has issued its report. In the meantime it does not appear to me necessary to maintain an order which has served its purpose in causing a searching investigation to be made into the important subjects dealt with in this despatch, and which at the same time has, as you point out caused some serious administrative inconvenience. I am therefore prepared to consider the case of each new appointment on its merits in accordance with your views, but it must be understood that any proposal for an increase in the civil posts included in the cadre of the Indian Medical Service will, in future, be subjected to the closest scrutiny.

9 I have also decided, on consideration of paragraph 25 of your despatch to accept the proposal that when sanctioned appointments in the Bacteriological Department are held by Indian Medical Service officers they should be treated for the time being as cadre appointments of that Service.

10 Your Excellency's Government will understand that the conclusions now stated must be regarded as provisional, and that it is possible that the enquiries to be conducted by the new Public Service Commission may necessitate a re-examination of the whole question.

I have the honour to be,

MEDICAL.

To

THE MOST HONOURABLE THE MARQUESS OF CREWE, K.G.,

His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Delhi, the 5th March 1914.

MY LORD MARQUESS

We have the honour to refer to Your Lordship's Public despatch No 243, dated the 22nd November 1912, regarding the unofficial medical profession in India and the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service. We are glad to learn that Your Lordship has accepted the view of Lord Minto's Government that the question of the steps to be taken to promote the growth of the unofficial medical profession must be treated as distinct from that of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service. Our predecessor's despatch of the 17th November 1910 suggested a variety of methods by which Government could assist or, in some cases, was already assisting, the development of the unofficial medical profession in India, and we indicate briefly the subsequent developments of some of the questions then raised :—

- (i) The questions of the registration of medical practitioners, of the growth of unofficial medical institutions and of penalising bogus medical degrees have been considered further, and we forward for Your Lordship's information a copy of our Home Secretary's letter of the 23rd May 1915, which has been addressed to local Governments and Administrations on the subject. We feel no doubt that reforms on the lines indicated will commend themselves to all those who have the interests of medical education in India at heart and we trust that before long something effectual will be done in the direction indicated.
- (ii) In February 1911 we consulted selected local Governments with regard to the suggestion to employ passed students of medical colleges, whether they enter Government service or not, as house physicians and house surgeons in Government hospitals, a plan which had commended itself to the Government of Bengal but in view of the generally unfavourable replies received we decided not to proceed further with this specific proposal.
- (iii) The suggestion to associate selected private practitioners with the staff of Government hospitals has been received favourably by the majority of local Governments.
- (iv) The question referred to at the end of paragraph 6 of the despatch of the 17th November 1910 has been disposed of by the issue of the resolution on the subject of gratuitous medical assistance in charitable hospitals and dispensaries which Your Lordship had approved in your Public despatch No. 252, dated the 6th December 1912.

2. Your Lordship has left it to our discretion to decide whether effect can usefully be given to the suggestion that, as far as possible, civil surgeoncies not reserved for the Indian Medical Service should be given to civil assistant surgeons instead of to military assistant surgeons. This matter has received our careful consideration, but we are strongly averse from any reduction in the number of civil surgeoncies held by military assistant surgeons or of any redistribution of the proportion of posts held by this class of officer. There are altogether 712 military assistant surgeons in the cadre, of whom 164 are serving under local Governments, but the total number of civil surgeoncies reserved for them is only 51. The question of reducing the proportions of independent to subordinate posts held by military assistant surgeons by the substitution of civil assistant surgeons in the independent appointments, was considered in 1903, when it was decided that no change was necessary as it was feared that such a proposal might tend to discourage military assistant surgeons of the best type from becoming candidates for civil employment, and of seriously affecting recruitment for the Service. To that opinion we still hold. All military assistant surgeons in civil employ are liable to recall for active service, and they constitute an important part of the war reserve. Since they already fall short of the number required for complete mobilization any reduction in their number would, in our opinion, be a grave mistake. Some of them possess exceptional qualifications and the majority make up in administrative capacity what they may lack in professional ability, and given equal medical attainments, the military assistant surgeon frequently makes a better civil surgeon than a civil assistant surgeon. We have under consideration proposals made by our Director-General of the Indian Medical Service to provide facilities for the better medical education of military assistant surgeons, and when effect is given to these recommendations the professional qualifications of these officers should be greatly improved.

3. There are several proposals pending before us for an increase of the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service, which we shall hereafter submit separately for Your Lordship's orders. In all these cases we hope that we will be able to show that, looking to the work to be done, the services of Indian Medical Service officers are indispensable. In view of the growing medical needs of the country which necessitate the employment of a larger staff of medical officers, some expansion of the Indian Medical Service is inevitable, and such expansion should not, in our opinion, be regarded from a different standpoint from the enlargement of any other cadre in response to the development of the work to be performed.

We have the honour to be,

MY LORD MARQUESS,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servants,
HARDINGE OF PENSHURST.

I AM directed to invite the attention of the Governor in Council to the question of legislating in order to penalise the use of bogus medical degrees. The Governor-General in Council is satisfied that there is a growing opinion in this country in favour of the stricter supervision of persons who practise Western methods of medicine. Evidence of this opinion is to be found in the general acceptance accorded in Bombay to the Medical Registration Act which became law in that Presidency last year, and in the initiation of legislation on similar lines by the Government of Bengal. Both these provincial measures proceed on the principle of conferring privileges upon qualified persons rather than of inflicting penalties on the unqualified. They create representative Medical Councils which will maintain a register of all medical practitioners and of their qualifications, and they restrict the exercise of certain definite functions to those practitioners whom the Medical Council has registered. The Governor-General in Council, however, considers that it is now possible to take a step further, and to proceed by means of a general Act to prohibit all institutions not affiliated to any University nor recognised by Government, from granting any medical degrees and titles which bear a colourable resemblance to registrable qualifications and further to prohibit individual practitioners from advertising that they hold such degrees.

2. It is as much in the interest of the independent private practitioner as in that of officers of the Indian Medical Service and of the subordinate medical departments that the field of private practice should not be overrun with untrained or half-trained men, whose titles may convey to the ignorant that they hold degrees or qualifications to which their actual attainments give them no claim whatever. The mischief caused by the unscrupulous assumption of medical degrees by men who had no right to them was observed as long ago as 1882 but it did not assume serious dimensions for another twenty-five years. The same aspect of the general question was again brought to notice by the Government of Bengal in 1908, but the fact that the evil was of comparatively recent development and practically confined to a single city, disposed the Government of India to a policy of caution. They approved the principle of a provincial Medical Registration Act, but while recognising the evil of bogus degrees they suggested to the local Government that an opportunity of reform should be first afforded to those medical institutions whose privileges would be threatened by the further legislation which the Government of Bengal had in view; and of combining their forces into one improved college which might receive Government recognition. Unfortunately the experience of the past few years has shown that no such spontaneous reform can be expected and the Government of India feel no longer any hesitation in proposing to undertake general legislation.

3. In putting their suggestions for legislation before local Governments the Government of India think it well to remove certain possible misapprehensions. In the first place, they have no desire to discourage the growth of independent medical institutions. They would rather wish to see such institutions extended, for, in Calcutta and probably elsewhere, the existing Government medical colleges are unable to meet the demands for instruction. Private institutions should provide valuable opportunities for professional and clinical work to private practitioners which cannot fail to raise the standard and promote the development of an independent medical profession, and provided that a minimum standard of efficiency in equipment and training is insisted upon the Government of India desire that every possible encouragement may be given to them.

4. In the second place the Government of India have no intention of legislating to prevent Ayurvedic colleges and similar institutions from conferring degrees, nor to penalise kamrups, bakims, *vaid*s and such practitioners in the exercise of their profession. On the other hand, they consider that the public is clearly entitled to be protected against a practitioner who professes to treat his patients according to the European system of medicine under cover of spurious qualifications, whether conferred by one of the correspondence colleges of America, or by proprietary institutions such as exist in Calcutta or Dacca.

5. The Government of India have considered carefully whether the evil of bogus medical degrees should not be checked rather by provincial than by imperial legislation. They find, however, that private medical institutions in Calcutta are attended by pupils from almost every part of India, and particularly by students whose general educational attainments are inferior to those required for admission to the Government medical colleges of their own provinces, and that students from these institutions return to their homes and there compete with the better equipped candidates who have gone through a recognised course under qualified teachers. In these circumstances the Government of India think that if the evil is to be effectually combated, legislation in the Imperial Council is preferable.

6. The legislation which the Government of India have in view would penalise the conferment of any medical diploma or degree by any unrecognised institution and would permit persons who use such degrees or diplomas or notify that they possess them, to be prosecuted. If legislation were directed only against institutions which confer degrees without proper authority, the mischief caused by the use of bogus degrees issued by institutions outside India would remain untouched, and inasmuch as the object of penalising individuals who assume degrees to which they have no claim or which have been conferred by unrecognised institutions is not to penalise professional inefficiency, but to prevent fraud, the Government of India think that the further remedy is justified.

7. Accordingly the Government of India propose that legislation be undertaken—

(1) to prohibit—

- (a) unauthorised persons or bodies from granting any degrees or diplomas or licenses or colourable imitations thereof, to practise the Western methods of medicine, which are recognised by the Indian Universities and the General Council of Medical Education and Registration in Great Britain, and
- (b) the issue by any person of any such degrees, diplomas or licenses or colourable imitations of such documents; and

(2) to penalise—

- (a) the granting or issue of such degrees, diplomas or licenses; and
- (b) the use of such degrees, diplomas or licenses by medical practitioners.

8 If the principle of this legislation is agreed to, the Government of India would ask ^{the Government of Madras} ~~the Lieutenant-Governor in Council~~ ^{His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor} ~~you~~ to consider further whether a Bill to effect the registration of medical practitioners should not also be introduced in ^{Madras} ~~the United Provinces~~, with the object of providing that the control of the registration of degrees in each province may be placed in the hands of a Medical Council (such as has already come into existence in Bombay) which will declare what degrees, licenses, and diplomas are registrable and will take disciplinary action against medical practitioners convicted of crime or of misconduct.

9 The Government of India anticipate indeed that before long it may be desirable that the work of these provincial Medical Councils should be co-ordinated by one supreme body, more particularly if the Councils, in addition to performing their ordinary functions under the Registration Act of the province, are given power to confer recognition upon those medical schools and colleges whose training, staff, syllabuses and equipment merit it or to establish subject to their general supervision, a College of Physicians and Surgeons as at Bombay, on the lines of those in the United Kingdom, to appoint examiners and grant diplomas such as the M.R.O.S. or the L.R.C.P. for persons whose means do not permit them to proceed to the University degree in medicine.

10. The Government of India have now indicated the scope of the legislation which they contemplate, and the directions to which, as at present advised, they are disposed to look for a further development of medical policy. They feel little doubt that reforms on such lines will commend themselves to all those who have the interests of medical education in India at heart, but they would be glad to be favoured with any criticisms which ^{the Governor in Council} ~~the Lieutenant-Governor in Council~~ ^{His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor} ~~you~~ may wish to offer, after consulting associations or persons whose opinions are of value with particular regard to the scope or aims of the proposed Bill. I am to request that, if possible, a reply may be sent to this letter by the 15th October next.

No. 9-W.—The following Order of HIS MAJESTY THE KING IN COUNCIL, which is to take effect from the 4th August 1914, is published for general information and guidance

At the Court of Buckingham Palace, the 4th day of August 1914.

PRESENT

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL

His Majesty being mindful, now that a state of war exists between this country and Germany, of the recognition accorded to the practice of granting "days of grace" to enemy merchant ships by the Convention relative to the Status of Enemy Merchant Ships at the Outbreak of Hostilities, signed at the Hague on the 18th October 1907, and being desirous of lessening, so far as may be practicable, the injury caused by war to peaceful and unsuspecting commerce, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows—

1. From and after the publication of this Order no enemy merchant ship shall be allowed to depart, except in accordance with the provisions of this Order, from any British port or from any ports in any Native State in India, or in any of His Majesty's Protectorates, or in any State under His Majesty's protection or in Cyprus

2. In the event of one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State being satisfied by information reaching him not later than midnight of Friday, the 7th day of August, that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes, which at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in the ports of the enemy, or which subsequently entered them, is not less favourable than the treatment accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 7 of this Order, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and public notice thereof shall forthwith be given in the "London Gazette," and Articles 3 to 8 of this Order shall thereupon come into full force and effect.

3. Subject to the provisions of this Order, enemy merchant ships which—

(i) at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in any port in which this Order applies; or

(ii) cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and after the outbreak of hostilities, enter a port to which this Order applies with no knowledge of the war:

shall be allowed up till midnight (Greenwich Mean Time), on Friday, the 14th day of August, for loading or unloading their cargoes and for departing from such port.

Provided that such vessels shall not be allowed to ship any contraband of war, and any contraband of war already shipped on such vessels must be discharged.

4. Enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and which with no knowledge of the war arrive at a port to which this Order applies after the expiry of the time allowed by Article 3 for loading or unloading cargo and for departing, and are permitted to enter, may be required to depart either immediately, or within such time as may be considered necessary by the Customs Officer of the port for the unloading of such cargo as they may be required or specially permitted to discharge.

Provided that such vessels may, as a condition of being allowed to discharge cargo, be required to proceed to any other specified British port, and shall there be allowed such time for discharge as the Customs Officer of that port may consider to be necessary.

Provided also that, if any cargo on board such vessel is contraband of war or is requisitioned under Article 5 of this Order, she may be required before departure to discharge such cargo within such time as the Customs Officer of the port may consider to be necessary, or she may be required to proceed, if necessary, under escort, to any other of the ports specified in Article 1 of this Order, and shall there discharge the contraband under the like conditions.

5. His Majesty reserves the right recognised by the said Convention to requisition at any time subject to payment of compensation enemy cargo on board any vessel to which Articles 3 and 4 of this Order apply.

6. The privileges accorded by Articles 3 and 4 are not to extend to cable ships or to sea-going ships designed to carry oil fuel, or to ships whose tonnage exceeds 5,000 tons gross, or whose speed is 14 knots or over, regarding which the entries in Lloyd's Register shall be conclusive for the purposes of this Article. Such vessels will remain liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to detention during the period of the war, or to requisition in accordance, in either case, with the Convention aforesaid. The said privileges will also not extend to merchant ships which show by their build that they are intended for conversion into warships, as such vessels are outside the scope of the said Convention, and are liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to condemnation as prize.

7. Enemy merchant ships allowed to depart under Articles 3 and 4 will be provided with a pass indicating the port to which they are to proceed, and the route they are to follow.

8. A merchant ship which, after receipt of such a pass, does not follow the course indicated therein will be liable to capture.

9. If no information reaches one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State by the day and hour aforementioned to the effect that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes which were in the ports of the enemy at the date of the outbreak of hostilities, or which subsequently entered them, is, in his opinion, not less favourable than that accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 8 of this Order, every enemy merchant ship which, on the outbreak of hostilities, was in any port to which this Order applies, and also every enemy merchant ship which cleared from its last port before the declaration of war, but which, with no knowledge of the war, enters a port to which this Order applies, shall, together with the cargo on board thereof, be liable to capture, and shall be brought before the Prize Court forthwith for adjudication.

10. In the event of information reaching one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State that British merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, but are met with by the enemy at sea after the outbreak of hostilities, are allowed to continue their voyage without interference with either the ship or the cargo, or after capture are released with or without proceedings for adjudication in the Prize Court, or are to be detained during the war, or requisitioned in lieu of condemnation as prize, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and shall publish a notification thereof in the "London Gazette," and in that event, but not otherwise, enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and are captured after the outbreak of hostilities and brought before the Prize Courts for adjudication, shall be released or detained or requisitioned in such cases and upon such terms as may be directed in the said notification in the "London Gazette."

11. Neutral cargo, other than contraband of war, on board an enemy merchant ship which is not allowed to depart from a port to which this Order applies shall be released.

12. In accordance with the provisions of Chapter III of the Convention relative to certain Restrictions on the Exercise of the Right of Capture in Maritime War, signed at the Hague on the 18th October 1907, an undertaking must, whether the merchant ship is allowed to depart or not, be given in writing by each of the officers and members of the crew of such vessel, who is of enemy nationality, that he will not after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, engage while hostilities last in any service connected with the operation of the war. If any such officer is of neutral nationality, an undertaking must be given in writing that he will not serve, after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, on any enemy ship while hostilities last. No undertaking is to be required from members of the crew who are of neutral nationality.

Officers or members of the crew declining to give the undertakings required by this Article will be detained as prisoners of war.

And the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and each of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and all Governors, Officers, and Authorities whom it may concern are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

No. 6809—6825—108.

The 6th August 1914.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India. Department of Commerce and Industry.

Intimation has been received from His Britannic Majesty's Consul at Pernambuco that Indian immigrants run a great risk in proceeding to Brazil with no knowledge of the Portuguese language, without assured employment, or with insufficient money to reach their destination should they have work assured to them, and that the wages for unskilled labourers in Pernambuco are insufficient to provide for the wants of Indian immigrants owing to the dearness of the necessaries of life.

Intending emigrants should also be warned at the port of embarkation of the risks they run in proceeding to Brazil

ESTABLISHMENT OF COLLEGES BY THE OXFORD MISSION IN CONNEXION WITH THE DACCA UNIVERSITY.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION.

CALCUTTA, THE 11TH AUGUST 1914.

RESOLUTION No 3017.

THE Governor in Council has under consideration a proposal made by the Oxford Mission, to include in the Dacca University two colleges—one for Christian men and one for Christian women. The aim of the Mission is to establish purely residential colleges in which the professors and undergraduates shall be in constant touch with one another, and thereby develop a strong corporate life.

This proposal was referred to a Special Committee with the Hon'ble Mr. Nathan as President. This Committee sat after the report of the Dacca University had been published and had been dealt with by this Government. The Special Committee has supported the proposal of the Oxford Mission and has drawn up a detailed scheme which it commends to Government for adoption. The main features of this scheme are as follows :—

Admission to the colleges shall be restricted to Indian Christians, but Christians may be admitted from any part of India, subject to the regulations of the Dacca University which shall be generally applicable.

The men's college shall provide residential accommodation for 40 students and the whole staff; but the class-rooms, dining-hall and library shall be large enough to hold 150 students, the limit to which the college will be allowed to expand. The subjects taught shall be English, History, Philosophy, Mathematics, Bengali, Syriac, and possibly also Economics, Latin and Greek.

The staff at the outset shall comprise the Principal and Vice-principal members of the Oxford Mission, three European professors, graduates of some university in Great Britain; and three Indian Christians.

The management shall be vested in a governing body consisting of the Superior of the Oxford Mission as president, the Principal of the College as Secretary, the Vice-principal, one of the staff chosen by the other members of the staff, and one member appointed by the Chancellor of the University. Its functions shall be the same as those of the Governing Body of a Government College, except that it shall have power to appoint the staff subject to the sanction of the Council, and shall be responsible for the finances of the college. The accounts shall be subject to audit by the University.

The buildings are estimated to cost Rs. 2,25,000 exclusive of the site which, it is proposed, shall be leased by Government to the Oxford Mission. The Oxford Mission will erect the buildings, aided by the Government building grant of Rs. 75,000. The recurring cost is estimated at about Rs. 16,500 a year and the income from all sources at Rs. 2,500. The fees proposed are Rs. 5 a month in the junior classes and Rs. 6 in the senior. Towards the annual deficit Government are asked to contribute Rs. 5,000, the Oxford Mission paying the balance.

The Women's College, it is proposed, shall provide accommodation for 30 students and the whole staff, viz., a Principal and Vice-principal, both members of the Oxford Mission Sisterhood; and three Englishwomen with English University qualifications.

The management shall, as in the case of the men's college, be entrusted to a Governing Body consisting of the Superior of the Oxford Mission (President), the Principal of the Christian Men's College, and the Principal and Vice-principal and one professor of the Women's College to be selected by the staff.

The Special Committee, while recommending that the Men's College shall be self-contained, has suggested that the Women's College shall be built alongside the Government College for women, and that the two shall have in common a lecture-hall and a recreation pavilion; that the Government College shall specialise in Arts and the Christian College in Science, and that the members of both colleges shall attend joint lectures in all common subjects except English. The teaching in the Christian College would then be confined to English, Mathematics and Science. Students would be prepared for the Preliminary Scientific Examination, and if the anatomical laboratory of the University could be reserved for women students at certain hours, instruction might be carried up to the M.B. standard.

On the above basis the initial cost of the Christian Women's College is estimated at about Rs. 1,60,000, the whole of which Government are asked to pay. The annual recurring cost is estimated at Rs. 9,700, and the income at Rs. 1,200; the fees proposed are the same as in the Government College for women. The Oxford Mission will meet the deficit, if Government will contribute Rs. 4,500 a year.

The College Chapel is to be erected by the Oxford Mission and at its expense; the Committee has recommended that it be not consecrated.

Before finally considering the recommendations of the Committee the Governor in Council has decided to publish the main features of the scheme and now invites comments and criticisms, which will be received by the Secretary to Government in the General (Education) Department up to the 15th September 1914.

In the case of the proposed college for Christian women His Excellency in Council doubts the advisability of amalgamating the Government College and the Christian College and is at present inclined to think that, even at a small sacrifice of economy, it would be better both for the Government College and the Christian College that the Christian College should be distinct and self-contained. On this point opinions from the public are specially invited.

Both as regards the college for Christian men and as regards the college for Christian women it is essential that two points should be clearly understood. The first point is that the colleges will be purely educational institutions. The colleges will have their chapels at which their students, who will all be Christians, will attend Anglican religious services. Outsiders will be welcome to attend these services, but nothing in the nature of proselytism among non-Christian students of other colleges will be allowed, nor is it the desire of the Oxford Mission that any such proselytism should be undertaken. The other point is that there is no intention on the part of Government to place the Oxford Mission, or the Anglican Church, in a privileged position compared with any other Christian body which may now be contemplating, or may contemplate hereafter, the establishment of a college in connection with the Dacca University.

By order of the Governor in Council.

EXEMPTION OF PROVIDENT FUNDS ESTABLISHED BY GOVERNMENT OR LOCAL BODIES OR PRIVATE EMPLOYERS FOR THE BENEFIT OF THEIR EMPLOYEES FROM THE PROVISIONS OF THE PROVIDENT INSURANCE SOCIETIES ACT, 1912.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

COMMERCE.

CALCUTTA, THE 11TH AUGUST 1914.

RESOLUTION—No. 2549Com.

THE Provident Insurance Societies Act (V of 1912) defines a Provident Insurance Society as a person who, or body of persons whether corporate or unincorporate which, receives premiums or contributions for insuring money to be paid on the birth, marriage or death of any person or on the happening of such other contingency or class of contingency as may be prescribed and in Notification No. 2372Com, dated 1st August 1914, unemployment or retirement from business has been prescribed as one of such contingencies. Government are advised that all Provident Funds which are established for the benefit of employés and to which the employer contributes in proportion to the contribution from the employé, receive contributions for insuring money to be paid on death, unemployment or retirement from business and are therefore Provident Insurance Societies and subject to the provisions of the Provident Insurance Societies Act. If such a Provident Fund carries on a life assurance business, that is to say, the issue or the undertaking of liability under policies of assurance on human life or the granting of annuities upon human life, and if the contracts so undertaken exceed the limits prescribed in section 3 of the aforesaid Act, the Provident Fund will then cease to be subject to the provisions of that Act and will come under the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act (VI of 1912). His Excellency in Council is satisfied that it is unnecessary to subject to the rules and provisions of the Provident Societies Act Provident Funds established by Government or local bodies or private employers for the benefit of their employés provided that the benefits of such fund are restricted to the employés of such local body or private employer, and that the local body or private employer is responsible for the proper working and control of the fund. His Excellency in Council has therefore decided to issue the following notification exempting such Provident Funds, under section 26 of Act V of 1912, from all the provisions of that Act.—

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2550Com.—The 11th August 1914.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 26 of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912 (V of 1912), the Governor in Council is pleased to exempt from all the provisions of the said Act every Provident Insurance Society (to which the said Act applies) which has been established for the benefit of their employés either by—

- (a) the Local Government, or
- (b) any local authority or private employer:

Provided that this exemption shall not apply in the case of any such society established by a local authority or private employer, unless—

- (i) participation in the benefits of the society is restricted to bona fide employés of such local authority or private employer, as the case may be, and
- (ii) the management of the society is directly controlled by such local authority or private employer.

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. L. STEPHENSON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.
